MAJOR PARTIES BOTH HAIL ROUT OF LA FOLLETTE

Seen as Most Significant Result Thus Far in 1932 Voting.

TOTAL FOR KOHLER LARGEST ON RECORD

Irregular Leaders Here Are Alarmed at Defeat of Blaine and Chief.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.
The sensational rout of the La Follette dynasty in the Wisconsin primaries Tuesday was hailed yesterday by Democrats and Republicans alike as the most significant result of the 1932 balloting to date.
Not only was a La Follette defeated in the Badger State for the first time in 40 years, but in the political whirlwind America's most firmly entrenched system of professional party irregularly collapsed ignominiously precisely at the moment when the progressive appeal, to discontent was touted to yield its richest fruits.
Gov. Philip La Follette, younger son of the famous Fighting Bob, was buried under an avalanche of "regular" votes, and lost the nomination to succeed himself by a majority of more than 100,000.

Record Vote for Kohler.
The victor was former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, a wealthy and respected manufacturer of plumbing supplies, who boasts that he has labored for more than a quarter of a century at the prosaic chore of dotting America with bathtubs and such. He captured the gubernatorial nomination with a total of approximately 405,000 votes, the largest ever polled in a Republican primary in Wisconsin.
At the same time Senator John J. Blaine, serving his first term in Washington under the La Follette banner, lost the senatorial nomination to John B. Chapple, a young and unknown Ashland editor, by a majority of approximately 125,000 votes.

Mr. Blaine supported Alfred E. Smith for President in 1928 and had received effective stumping support in the 1932 campaign from Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, who deserted the Democratic presidential standard in 1924 to be the running mate of the elder La Follette on the third party ticket.

Irregulars Are Failing.
Coming less than three months after the decisive defeat of Smith W. Brookhart in the Iowa primaries, the overwhelming rejection of Mr. Blaine in Wisconsin induced a slow attack of the Oriental jitters among the Capital's spokesmen for the so-called clean Government movement.

Casualties among the irregulars have been terrific since Mr. McMaster took the count in South Dakota in 1930 and a panicky fear now is spreading in the purer political circles that the day is not far distant when an officeholder will be forced to be either this or that, and not, as Senator Moses has said, "a son of a wild jackass."

Although Gov. La Follette did not impinge upon Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign for the forgotten man, he did blow to magnificent proportions one of the fundamental economic concepts of Bryanism.
La Follette's Battle Cry.
"The problem is the redistribution of purchasing power," he shouted again and again throughout the State.
The first overtone of this slogan was the theme song of Senator Wheeler's appeal to Wisconsin Democrats to abandon their own primary.

Egypt's Salvage Totals $3,250,000

Bullion Worth $450,000 Landed From Sunken Steamship.

Plymouth, England, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The Italian salvage ship Artiglio II today deposited at this port a fourth cargo of gold retrieved from the sunken liner Egypt. The latest haul was the equivalent of $450,000, making the total salvaged $3,250,000 out of the $3,000,000 in bullion in the Egypt's strong room when she sank in 1922.
The latest haul was snatched up from the bed of the sea in the short span of five hours, all the time divers were able to work during the last three weeks. Weather conditions have been very bad.
The liner Egypt was rammed and sunk off Brest and fifteen lives have been lost trying to salvage the gold in her strong room. She lies in extremely dangerous waters affected by severe tides. The Italian salvagers have been working for two years over the lost liner, and were rewarded with their first haul of gold in June of this year.

Mrs. Borah Suffering From 'Parrot Fever'

Doctor Believes Malady Contracted From Her Dead Parakeet.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The illness of Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of Senator Borah, was diagnosed today by her physician as psittacosis, or parrot fever.

A bulletin issued this afternoon by Dr. Ralph Falk, Mrs. Borah's physician, said the nature of the ailment was discovered after an earlier diagnosis had indicated she was suffering from influenza.

Mrs. Borah has been in a local hospital for a week with a high fever. Her condition was reported daily as serious.

"I was informed yesterday," said Dr. Falk's statement, "that a parakeet belonging to Mrs. Borah had died. This bird was sent to Boise from California. Upon investigation I find that psittacosis has been reported in California parakeets. The conclusion has been reached that Mrs. Borah has psittacosis."

"While the symptoms are very much the same as in influenza, certain differences have appeared which point toward this diagnosis."

Dr. Falk reported Mrs. Borah had shown some improvement today, as her fever had abated somewhat. He declined to comment on the disease other than to say it was "serious." Mrs. Borah purchased her parrots from a local resident three weeks ago. They were small bluish-colored birds commonly known as love birds.

HERRIOT OBSERVER AT ARMS MEETING

Discussion of Reich Demand for Equality Avoided at Geneva Session.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Premier Edouard Herriot of France was revealed tonight in the role of mysterious observer in the deliberations of the disarmament conference's bureau (steering committee) today.
The bureau passed the question of German participation in conference back to Berlin when it resumed its deliberations, and then went on with the regular program. Germany had no representative in accordance with her assertions that she would not participate until her demand for arms equality is recognized.

It was learned the French premier arrived on an early train and went to a hotel, while Joseph Paul Boncour, the French delegate, went to the conference bureau meeting, where a discussion of the German demand was avoided. Premier Herriot remained at his hotel while the French, Russian, American and English delegates discussed the bureau program with President Arthur Henderson.

Tonight Premier Herriot departed for Paris and the report went out he had held no important conference with anybody. It was explained in

Former Police Chief And Mayor Convicted

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Parker Quince Moore, former mayor of Wilmington, and J. J. Furlong, former police chief, were convicted of attempted extortion today and sentenced to prison, but obtained stays of execution of the sentences until the next term of court and were released on bond.
The two men were accused of sending threatening notes, which demanded $25,000, to Mrs. Jessie Kennan Wise, of Wilmington, wealthy widow. Judge W. A. Devin sentenced Moore to three years' imprisonment and Furlong to one year.

New Taxes Add 18 Million, With Cut in Deficit Likely

August Collections Amounted to $79,940,310, Big Increase Over Figure for July, Internal Revenue Bureau Reports; All Classifications Advance.

(Associated Press.)
New taxes imposed by the billion dollar revenue law took a jump which boosted August collections to $79,940,310, an increase of $18,253,843 over July and of $11,546,170 over August, 1931.

The monthly report of the Internal Revenue Bureau, issued yesterday, showed the new taxes were increasing so fast that prospects were they would cut down the $395,788,278 deficit piled up since July 1.

The gasoline tax alone in August brought in $8,944,857, as compared with the $538,461 reported for July. The tax on checks amounted to $3,364,251, against $1,094,287 last month. The gasoline tax and many of the others gaining reflected Treasury officials said, the steady exhaustion of tax free stocks, accumulated before the new law went into effect. Besides, slow collection on some of the taxes has retarded early receipts and officials believe many have not yet reached their normal volume.

New taxes apparently did not cut August automobile sales as the taxes on them and motorcycles amounted to $886,655. They were $47,629 the previous month. Motor trucks returned $101,342 compared with $9,331, reported in July. Automobile parts and accessories returned $224,241, in place of July's $42,452.
The tax on radios increased from $32,848 in July to $76,445 in August, while the tax on cameras and lenses which in July totaled $452, brought in $10,963. Candy and chewing gum taxes accounted for $176,792 of the total collections, while in July they returned only $53,224, and soft drinks attained their steady popularity by bringing in $337,462 compared with $89,569 last month.
The electrical energy tax returned $967,612 compared with $32,196, and

EUROPE LIKELY TO BE CAUTIOUS ON MANCHURIA

France and England Are Understood to Have Told Reed Views.

THEY HOPE TO AVOID ANTAGONIZING JAPAN

State Department Officials Decline to Comment on Purported Stand.

Paris, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—France and England were understood in authoritative American circles tonight to have given Senator David A. Reed an impression of "caution and reserve" on the subjects of Manchuria and Japan.

This became known as the Pennsylvania senator left for the Riviera after conversations in London and Paris with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon, the home secretary of Great Britain, and Premier Edouard Herriot, of France.

It was emphatically pointed out that while Senator Reed had no official mission or authority to conclude agreements, he did receive first-hand knowledge in his capacity as a senator.

Caution on Manchuria.

It was believed the Pennsylvania senator found both France and England "attached to the sanctity of treaties" and displaying as well "a certain caution and reserve as to what concrete attitudes will be adopted in the Manchurian affair."

The impression gleaned in an authoritative American quarter is that neither England nor France wishes to antagonize Japan and that they want to keep her, like Germany, as a great power in the League of Nations and within the framework of world peace organizations generally.

The concrete position of England and France probably will not be fixed until the Lytton report on Manchuria is discussed in Geneva, probably after the American elections.

Ambassador Walter E. Edge officially is keeping Washington informed of his impression and, like Senator Reed, will personally consult with the administration as guide in the American diplomatic course.

Edge Starts Home Today.

Both Senator Reed and Ambassador Edge are preparing to participate in the coming election campaign in the United States.

In fact, the ambassador is starting for home tomorrow, and after reporting on negotiations for a Franco-American commercial treaty, will devote his time to other affairs.

Sensor Reed, after a brief stay on the Riviera, will sail for home on September 29. He will report first on his conversations in Paris and London, particularly regarding disarmament and the situation in the Far East.

(Associated Press.)

State Department officials yesterday refused to comment on word from Paris that France and Great Britain have shown on the Manchurian situation.

Insult Victims Ask Personnel Shakeup

Investors Want Methods of Illinois Regulation of Utilities Changed.

Chicago, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—A shake-up of the Illinois Commerce Commission personnel was asked today as a result of the Insult Utilities crash by members of the Insult Utilities Consumers and Investors League.

In a statement signed by three members of the league's executive committee, it was demanded that names of "financiers, public officials and others given" special securities purchasing privileges by Insult be made public and that State laws be changed to prevent duplication of such a financial crash.

In Federal Court, Judge Walter C. Lindley granted permission for "limited intervention" by attorneys into the affairs of the Insult Utility Investments, Inc., a trading corporation now involved in receivership litigation.

One of the attorneys said on request of bondholders they would investigate particularly if $78,000,000 alleged loss were due to profit received by "privileged persons."

Henry Ford Decorated By Agent of Mussolini

Detroit, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The Royal Order of the Iron Crown of Italy was conferred on Henry Ford today by Count Ugo Berni-Canani, Italian vice consul, representing Premier Mussolini.

The brief ceremony was held in the offices of the Ford Motor Co.

SEEKS FREEDOM

AL CAPONE.

HEARING ON CAPONE WRIT IS SET OCT. 19

Gangster Chief Spends Five Minutes in Atlanta Court to Enter Petition.

Atlanta, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Al Capone, Chicago's one-time gang chief, tried to gain his freedom from prison via the habeas corpus route today, but spent a scant half hour in the open before he was whisked back to the penitentiary by a squad of officers.

Federal Judge Marvin Underwood received the petition for a writ, filed without warning by Capone's attorneys, and signed an order returnable immediately. Forty minutes later Capone was in court for a brief five minutes before the judge. A hearing then was set for October 19 and Capone returned to prison.

He is serving a ten-year sentence for violations of the income tax laws in 1926, 1927 and 1928. The petition for the writ argued that the statute of limitations prevents his imprisonment.

A new angle injected into the case today involved the citation of a decision by the United States Supreme Court last April in the suit of the United States vs. Schartorn, originally tried in Boston.

William J. Hughes, Jr., and William E. Leahy, of Washington, attorneys for Capone, said "Schartorn, a Boston broker, was charged with violation of income tax laws under similar conditions to Capone's case. The Supreme Court held the statute of limitations applied after a period of three years and that offenses committed more than three years before can not result in conviction."

Assistant District Attorney Hal Lindsay declared Capone has no chance for freedom on the writ. He said the Capone and Schartorn cases are not parallel as Capone is basing his attempt on a writ after his conviction and incarceration while the Schartorn case was simply an appeal.

Capone appeared subdued after four months spent in the Federal penitentiary. He was clothed in the same dark suit, and light felt hat he was wearing when he entered the prison last May 4. He appeared thinner and in better physical trim.

As soon as Judge Underwood signed the order making the petition for the writ returnable immediately, United States Marshal Louis Crawford informed Warden A. C. Aderholt at the prison. Aderholt had the prisoner ready and Capone was taken immediately to the courtroom.

Bucharest, Roumania, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, American Army chief of staff, arrived from Budapest today and was greeted with high honors at the station.

Tomorrow he will go to Sinai for a special audience and lunch with King Carol, and on Saturday will witness military maneuvers near Bucharest with the king. He will proceed to Istanbul on Sunday.

Ft. Boqueron Slain Reported at 1,250

Bolivians to Use Tanks in Try to Break Siege in Gran Chaco.

Formosa, Argentina, Sept. 21 (U.P.).—Bolivian officers, who arrived at the frontier here today from the scene of fighting in the Gran Chaco, estimated that more than 1,250 Bolivian and Paraguayan soldiers have been killed at Fort Boqueron.

They said that the fort is besieged by more than 6,000 Paraguayan troops and the Bolivians have been unable to smash the lines. Bolivian airplanes from Fort Arce fly low over Boqueron daily to drop food and ammunition to the defenders.

The Bolivian commanders are arranging to have tanks brought into the district for the purpose of breaking the Paraguayan lines.

ROOSEVELT GIVES PLAN FOR FEDERAL CONTROL OF ELECTRIC UTILITIES

Text of Gov. Roosevelt's Speech on Power Control

Portland, Ore., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Following is the address of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, delivered here tonight:

I have journeyed many times to this beautiful Pacific Coast, but I want to assure you that I have never comprehended, as I have this time, the warmth of your hospitality, the greatness of your resources and opportunities and, I want to add with all earnestness, the great importance of the problem that I am discussing tonight.

I have come, not primarily to speak, but, rather, to hear—not to teach, but to learn. I want to hear of your problems, to understand them and to consider them as they bear on the larger scene of national interest.

I have strengthened the belief that I have had for a long time and that I have constantly set forth in my speeches and papers in my work as Governor of the State of New York, that the question of power, of electrical development and distribution, is primarily a national problem.

Speaking in the language of the Navy, with which I was associated for many eventful years, I want at the outset of this discussion to take my bearings, to know my destination, to chart my course. In discussing electrical power, the speaker, like a ship sailing in dangerous waters, must avoid not only unseen shoals and rocky reefs—he must also be on his guard against false lights on the shore. His only protection against all of these dangers is to set squarely and fairly before him the course that he must steer. Let me do that in a few sentences.

As I see it the object of government is the welfare of the people. The liberty of people to carry on

BIG WELCOME AT PORTLAND

Candidate Urges Publicity on Finances.

Municipal Auditorium, Portland, Ore., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt laid down tonight an eight-point program for controlling public utilities and said he favored giving the people the right to operate their own power business when essential to "protect them against inefficient service or exorbitant charges."

A crowd that jammed the huge Municipal Auditorium had stood and cheered for a full minute when he walked across the stage before them a short time before. It applauded lustily again as he recited his program for dealing with the utilities problem.

Crowds wedged into the entrances so tightly that members of his party had considerable difficulty in fighting their way into the auditorium.

Details of His Program.

With regard to regulation of the companies engaged in the power business, the candidate proposed:

Publicity with regard to their securities and earnings.

Publicity on the stocks and bonds they and their officers own and upon intercompany contracts.

Regulation by the Federal power commission of utility holding companies.

Cooperation of the power commission with State public utilities commissions to regulate and control such companies.

Holding the issuance of securities to the level of "prudent investment."

Establishing the "actual money prudent investment principle" to supplement the reproduction cost theory as a basis of rate-making.

Prohibiting the "regulation of false or deceptive matter" on public utilities.

Pays Respects to Norris.

Interrupted frequently by applause that showered down from the high-filled balconies and echoed from the floor, the Democratic presidential candidate proposed that the Federal Government complete the Columbia River, St. Lawrence and Boulder Dam power projects and, in discussing Muscle Shoals, said the water power

Mrs. Loose Better After Operation

Condition Reported "Very Good;" Recovery Seen as Assured.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The condition of Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, 72, society leader of Kansas City and Washington, D. C., who yesterday underwent an operation for diaphragmatic hernia of the stomach, was reported tonight by her physician to be "very good."

Mrs. Loose still was confined to the oxygen room of the Kahler Hospital, to which she was taken after the operation.

Dr. S. W. Harrington, of the Mayo Clinic, said Mrs. Loose "spent a good day and her condition tonight is very good. She will be kept in the oxygen room another day or two. Her complete recovery virtually is assured."

ROOSEVELT'S TALK IN SEATTLE SCORED

Former Senator Says Many
In Democratic Party Have Sought High Tariffs.

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Two attacks were directed tonight at Gov. Roosevelt's Seattle tariff speech by Republican Eastern headquarters.

"Men who have served in Washington," said former United States Senator William M. Calder, Brooklyn, N. Y., "know that Democratic senators and representatives literally clamored for protection in the industries of their own States, although they are willing to wreck the products of other States."

"It is a well-known fact by everyone in Washington that Senators Wagner and Copeland, of New York, the earnest solicitor of Jim Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, urged an increased tariff on cement, and apparently Farley is interested in cement."

Cites Tariff Advocates.

"It is a well-known fact also that Senator Walsh, of Montana, urged an increased tariff on copper, which is one of the chief products of his State, and that Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, wanted a raised tariff on coal, and that Senator Dill, of Washington, who spoke from the same platform with Gov. Roosevelt in Seattle, urged a higher tariff on lumber."

"And I don't think I am giving away any secret when I say that Senator Dill's State happens to be interested in lumber."

"And that is why I say that the position of the Democratic party on the tariff is not only misleading but thoroughly dishonest."

Stands for Protection.

"The Republican party makes no bones about the tariff. It stands for protection."

"The Republican party wishes to maintain a higher standard of living, and it takes the position that every industry, whether in Florida or in Minnesota, should be protected from destructive competition among labor-united States Representative Underhill (Republican), Massachusetts, said."

"When the American worker and the American farmer analyze the tariff, they can not help but come to the conclusion that his remedy is far worse than the disease on which the tariff is based. The tariff is a protection racket. It is a racket that has been running smoothly and effectively during the last 32 years, was stalled by the heavy tariff on foreign goods already produced by commodities produced in their own countries."

Discourages Democratic Claims.

A statement issued by Charles J. Dumas, senior past president of New York Typographical Union No. 6, said:

"My attention has been called to statements, the origin of which is ambiguous, circulating among labor-united States intimating that Gov. Roosevelt is gaining in strength."

"I happen to know that the reverse is true—that the Democratic party is winking with Mr. Hoover."

"The labor organizations of the Nation * * * can not but be profoundly thankful we have had a Herbert Hoover at the wheel of the ship of state to guide us into a safe harbor and restore us to something like the condition of prosperity that prevailed when the cataclysm all but overwhelmed us."

A challenge to freshmen to make their college training the best of their lives and of life about them was the message of Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University, to new students at the opening ceremony in Corcoran Hall yesterday marking the beginning of the institution's one hundred and twelfth academic year.

"There is something in human experience beyond that which we perceive or comprehend," he said, urging the students not to stop with the interpretations which come in the classroom and textbook.

Henry Gratton Doyle, dean of the Junior College and chairman of the committee on student life, explained the university advisory system. Dr. Marvin and Dean Earl Baldwin McKinley addressed the assembly which formally opened the School of Medicine.

MAYOR M'KEE WINS
FIRST TENURE FIGHT

A constitutional officer, and that the history of charter revision indicated it was his intention to have mayors elected in odd-numbered years, with elections four years apart.

A special scheme was devised for filling vacancies, he held, that of having the president of the board of aldermen act, and he added that "the apparent intention" was that such an acting mayor should continue in office until the next regular election.

The court held that "an examination of the election law discloses such a complete lack of any well-defined plan for the holding of an election for the important office of Mayor of the City of New York under the circumstances arising herein as to indicate that the Legislature did not contemplate such an election as a contingency in the event of the expiration of the term of the mayor."

Asserting that the law provided no scheme for joint action by the various committees in the naming of a candidate for mayor and adding that there was no basis for the equalization of the voting power of the various counties, the court added: "It would seem incomprehensible that such action would be sanctioned by law, permitting, as it might, minority rule."

"An election at this time would also appear to cause conflict with the general scheme of the election law permitting the filing of independent nominations after party designations," he wrote.

Iowa Farmers Draft Plans To Ask Congress 'Price Aid'

Brookhart, Speaking at Session, Urges Federal Control of Surplus Crops; Assails Hoover Farm Bills
and Attacks Mills, Hyde and Mellon.

Moville, Iowa, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Outlining measures he believes will solve farm problems, in an address to farm holiday sympathizers tonight, Senator Smith W. Brookhart advocated governmental control of surplus crops, curbing the money standard and issuance of Treasury notes for veterans' relief and public works.

More than 2,000 farmers huddled in a wind-swept lumber yard shed where, driven by the cold and rain, they heard the Iowa Senate speaker.

Wall Street and certain administrative officials as adding to agricultural hardships.

Afterward the farm strikers drew up seven resolutions designed to aid the nonstriking movement and settle farm difficulties.

The resolutions demand a special session of Congress to consider relief measures, an effective and immediate moratorium on farm chattel mortgages, an increase in the amount of currency, refinancing of agricultural loans with the refinancing agencies in the hands of farmers, a public construction program, repeal of nuisance taxes, and that farmers be given prices equal to cost of production for their commodities.

"The last is the objective of the farm holiday movement."

After outlining his own financial difficulties, Brookhart launched into a discussion of the ways to limit surplus commodities.

He criticized President Hoover's farm bills and attacked Secretaries Hyde, Ogden Mills and Mellon in connection with the Treasury recommendation that Congress appropriate five millions for handling the exportable surplus, with farmers paying the equalization fee.

Referring to the national debt in relation to the national income, the senator declared this unfavorable ratio would mean bankruptcy. He recommended issuing Treasury notes to take care of the surplus, to pay for public works and the bonus and to insure price increases to normal levels.

"Soldier relief would mean as much to the farmers as to the soldiers themselves," the senator declared.

Brookhart said he favored a special session of Congress, but he believed only one man in the world can convince that session—that man is Herbert Hoover.

He suggested meetings similar to this one throughout the country to force a special session.

KOHLER ADDS TO BIG LEAD IN WISCONSIN EDGE LEAVES PARIS

La Follette Is 94,342 Votes
Behind; Gains Are Hailed
by Democrats.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The spectacle of liberal Wisconsin taking a landslide into conservatism, as it did in the Republican primary Tuesday by a 100,000 majority was clearly outlined tonight by the unofficial returns, with only a few scattering precincts missing.

The La Follette-Progressive political machine, accustomed to running smoothly and effectively during the last 32 years, was stalled by the heavy Republican vote.

Of the entire State ticket it apparently salvaged but one office, that of secretary of state. However, the race for State treasurer was still a neck-and-neck affair.

It lost the nomination for the governorship to Walter J. Kohler, prominent manufacturer, and saw its vigorous young leader, Gov. Philip F. La Follette, snatched away from him by a overwhelming defeat, the first that has ever visited a La Follette since the birth of Wisconsin.

Kohler 94,342 Ahead.

With 2,708 of the State's 2,899 precincts reported, La Follette trailed Kohler by 94,342 in a vote that totaled upward of 700,000 for both candidates.

Senator John J. Blaine also fell by the wayside and the place on the Republican ballot in November was assumed by John B. Chapple, 32-year-old editor of the Ashland Daily Press, who has never been in a campaign before. Chapple beat him by more than 20,000 votes, the returns indicated.

Nominations for the lieutenant governorship, for State treasurer and for attorney general passed to the Conservative element of the Republican party.

Theodore Damann, the Progressive secretary of state and the sole survivor of the La Follette ticket, out his opponent, Bernard Gettelman, of Milwaukee, by an indicated margin of 15,000 to 20,000 votes.

Seventy-year-old Dr. Levan, Progressive State treasurer for ten years, was trailing Edward J. Samp, of Madison, his opponent, by 9,000 votes.

Only 3 Renominated.

Out of seven Progressive representatives seeking renomination, only three had secured themselves a place on the November ballot, but there was a likelihood, due to closer voting in the congressional districts, that the Progressive state ticket might have five each to confront the Democrats in the ten districts.

Time has established the tradition that a Republican nomination in the primary is as good as election in November, but it is considered possible that the Democratic party this year may cause an upset such as that which rocked the political foundations yesterday.

In a three-cornered fight over the governorship, the Democrats rolled up a vote of 150,000, as compared with 17,000 in 1930, and apparently had nominated Mayor A. G. Schmiedeman of Madison.

In a public statement Mayor Schmiedeman declared the primary trend in both parties as proof that "Wisconsin Democracy is on the ascendancy and will reach its full force on November 8."

G.O.P. Trying to Delude
Hoover, George Claims

(Associated Press.)

Senator George Berry, of Michigan, said in a statement issued at Democratic national headquarters yesterday that "those in charge of the Republican national committee are attempting to delude President Hoover with manufactured evidence of his popularity."

He referred to the Republican committee's recent announcement that a poll of persons whose names are listed in "Who's Who" showed President Hoover leading Gov. Roosevelt.

R. F. C. Loan Is Asked
For Chesapeake Ferry

The proposal to establish a ferry from Chesapeake Beach, Md., across the bay to Hudson, Md., was renewed yesterday when the Chesapeake Beach Railway asked a loan of $500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Dredging, dock construction and the building of two boats would begin as soon as the loan is granted.

The ferry proposal was the basis of a three-year legal fight which ended in United States Supreme Court last April. In 1929 the Interstate Commerce Commission granted the railway company permission to establish the service, but appeals from this decision were taken to the high court which finally upheld the commission.

ROOSEVELT RAPPED FOR POSING AS 'R.'

Affectations Are Denounced by Dixon, Friend of Former President.

(Associated Press.)

Joseph M. Dixon, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, who was campaign manager for Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, in a statement yesterday expressed "indignation at the attempt of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt to put himself before the American people as the clothing of the great President."

"I was a life-long friend of President Theodore Roosevelt," he said, "and I was the national chairman of the Bull Moose campaign in 1912, in which Col. Roosevelt was the presidential candidate. I knew President Roosevelt as few other men knew him, and I have no hesitation in saying that this man, in his cheap posing, is endeavoring to mislead the American people into the notion that he is the reincarnation of his fifth cousin, which he is not."

"And I can state further that Franklin D. Roosevelt, with what political influence and activities he had, always opposed President Roosevelt during his lifetime. His imitations of mannerisms and speech leave a bad taste in the mouths of every friend of President Roosevelt. Every letter and report from the West carry the same story of counterfeiting. At Salt Lake City, he had the effrontery to use one of President Roosevelt's colloquialisms to tell the people that he was 'dying' for the West. He pretended his joy at being among the hardy-handed farmers, of which he was one, by virtue of inheriting a country estate on the Hudson."

"Teddy Roosevelt never pretended that he was what he was not. He always struck straight from the shoulder and dispensed a fakir."

Dixon has held his present post since the beginning of the Hoover administration. Before that he was Governor of Montana, and had served as senator and representative from that State.

Hailed as 'Mr. Garner,' Curtis Joins in Laugh

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—A woman whose eagerness to shake hands with American political leaders outranked her familiarity with their appearance mistook Vice President Curtis for Speaker John N. Garner here today and Mr. Curtis joined the crowd in uproarious laughter.

The train bearing him to Knoxville for a political speech tonight stopped at the Bristol Station and the pressed forward, grasping his hand warmly.

"I'm so glad to meet you, Mr. Garner," she cried with great excitement in a high-pitched voice that was clearly audible above the din.

The crowd roared like 50,000 people at a baseball game, but the woman retired triumphantly, obviously unaware of her error. The Vice President had a slight abrasion and bruise over his left eye, the result of falling against a door on the train.

Senator Charges Secret Understanding for Another Debt Moratorium.

Modesto, Calif., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Crisis of relief and foreign debt policies of the National Government was voiced before the State Federation of Labor here today by United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson (Republican), of California.

Denouncing the moratorium granted to foreign governments by the United States, the senator asserted there had been "some understanding, carefully concealed from the American people," regarding another moratorium this year.

Revision of the debt, he said, "is merely another name for ultimate cancellation."

"It is a remarkable thing that those in high position constantly engage in this subject," he added, "when the Congress of the United States declared in granting the moratorium last year that our fixed and settled policy was neither to cancel, nor to revise, the debts due our Government."

Of relief Senator Johnson said:

"The masters of our destinies, with myopic vision, see only railroads and banks and their blundering might not distinguish just human beings."

"It is true that by virtue of our governmental activities Morgan & Co. have been bailed out on October 20, but their blundering might not distinguish just human beings."

"The Government on human relief."

Hoover Will Speak On Several Issues

Talk at Des Moines Is Not to Be Limited to Agriculture.

(Associated Press.)

The campaign speech to be delivered in Des Moines on October 2 by President Hoover will embrace other issues as well as the agricultural situation.

This was disclosed yesterday at the White House when it was said that while the difficulties of farmers doubtless would provide a focal point for the address, the President would not restrict himself to that topic.

As he left of late, Mr. Hoover during the morning kept in touch with political affairs. Secretary Mills, one of his most constant advisers, reported after more than an hour with Mr. Hoover that "the general political situation" had been discussed, including the primary balloting of Tuesday.

ROOSEVELT PLANS DENOUNCED

Vandenberg Says Program
Advanced Would Prove
'Alien Bonanza.'

Chicago, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, charged in a radio address tonight that "Democratic tariff internationalism as sponsored by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt would constitute an alien bonanza."

The Michigan senator said the domestic market normally is worth $90,000,000,000, and foreign trade only a little over $6,000,000,000. He declared Democratic tariff principles "amount to gambling ninety billion dollars against six billion."

"Sixty-eight per cent of the rate increases in the 1930 tariff act are upon raw farm products and 94 per cent upon raw and derivative farm products," said Senator Vandenberg. He said the address was an answer to Gov. Roosevelt's speech at Seattle.

"Repeal of the tariff act would mean repeating all chances for farm relief, because there can be surplus control only in a protected market. We have the same percentage share of the world's trade as always, and we shall capture our full export productivity when there is world trade to capture."

Senator Vandenberg said business revived after adjustment of Congress in July "because business was relieved of the fear that any of the wild schemes promulgated in the Democratic House would be permitted to impede American recovery."

He said the recovery had been halted this month because "election news from Main" indicated the wild schemes might be approaching greater power at Washington.

Woman Would Enter For New York Mayor

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—A woman today entered the mayoralty "contest," which will not materialize, "because a higher court reverses a Supreme Court decision of today holding that no special election should be held in November."

The Socialist Labor party, at a convention last night, nominated Mrs. Olive M. Johnson, of Brooklyn, for mayor and adopted a five-page platform assailing those of the Republican, Democratic, Socialist and Communist parties.

Garner's Mother Buried Near Home

Many Texas Towns Hold
Memorial Services
for Pioneer.

Detroit, Tex., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—In the quietness of a village cemetery, final rites were said today for the pioneer mother of John Nance Garner, vice presidential nominee. The mother, Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner, passed quietly away in her old home here yesterday, surrounded by her living family.

After services as simple as the life she had led, the body of the 81-year-old woman was placed in the family vault, a low brick structure surrounded by lilac bushes and shaded by oaks, to rest beside her husband and two children. The services were said by the Rev. T. F. Herndon, pastor of the First Christian Church of Paris and eight acquaintances of many years were pallbearers. In addition to the rites here, memorial services were held at several towns in Texas.

After the services, Mr. Garner planned to return to Washington.

Deep Waterway Certain, Capital Engineer Says

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Development of the St. Lawrence deep waterway scheme is certain of accomplishment, said Charles F. Craig, Washington, D. C., engineer, told the Great Lakes and Harbor Association at the opening session of its three-day convention today.

All that remained before development can be started, he said, was ratification of the St. Lawrence Treaty by the governments of Canada and the United States. "At no time during the stages of negotiation between the representatives of the two countries has there been the least sign of disagreement on a major point," he asserted.

has gone to banks and trust companies in cities of less than 5,000 population, 75 per cent in those of less than 10,000, and 86 per cent in those of less than 25,000 population.

In five months from the start of business to June 30, he said, out of a total of $1,054,814,486.50, a total of $642,789,313.07, or three-fifths of the money, went to the 3,600 bank trust companies, including $27,398,350 to aid in the reorganization or liquidation of 316 closed banks.

"Banks and trust companies," he continued, "are institutions that lend money that has been entrusted to them by depositors. Who, then, in point of numbers, are most concerned with their safety and prosperity? Of course the depositors."

Mr. Curtis cited figures to show that there are "somewhere from thirty to forty millions of our people gravely concerned that there shall be no bank runs, no bank failures."

"And will any one," he asked, "insist on saying that an institution to protect and help more than 30,000,000 people, of which the countrymen, exist for the benefit of the big few and is operated to help only the 'interests'?"

"The revived tariff legislation sponsored by the Republican party, and declared 'our Democratic friends,' regarding the facts, have wrongly contended that by our policy of protection we have injured our foreign trade."

Before his speech, local and State Republican leaders, including Representative J. Will Taylor, of the Second District, John E. McCall, of Memphis, Republican nominee for governor, and Howard Shofner, of Nashville, chairman of the State Republican committee, headed a parade in honor of the Vice President. Later he attended a banquet.

Senator Curtis will go to Chattanooga, Thursday, to make an address and swing through Kentucky Friday and Saturday.

BOTH PARTIES NET
BORAH TELLS PAPERDrys Adroitly Disfranchised
in Presidential Drive, Journal
Quotes Him.

Boston, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Zion's Herald today quotes Senator William E. Borah as saying in a letter in reference to the Republican and Democratic platforms "those who are in favor of the eighteenth amendment have been adroitly and effectually disfranchised so far as the presidential election is concerned."

The Herald prints a letter which it says was received from Borah in answer to one from its editor. It quotes Borah as saying: "I can see no difference whatever in the practical effect between the platform of the two parties with reference to the eighteenth amendment. They both, in practical effect, mean the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The Republican platform pledges the party to do that which can not possibly be done without a specific repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

"Both parties also profess to be interested in protecting the dry States and preventing the ruin of the American life of the saloon. Yet their program will inevitably bring back the American saloon as against anything which the Federal Government may be able to do."

Saloon Question.

"The leaders in the party may badge one another during the campaign. But when the campaign is over there will be one concerted movement upon the part of the leaders of both parties for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and the dry States and the saloon question can take care of themselves."

There is one proposition in both platforms which makes them unmistakably the twins they are, and that is, the provision with reference to submitting this question to conventions instead of State Legislatures. That was the thing which the Republicans wanted above all things else. That is the thing which they felt they had to have in order to effectually bring about repeal when the matter was submitted. To my mind, it is the most significant and telling clause in both platforms.

To Know After Election.

"There may be reasons why those who are opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment should vote for Mr. Hoover. There may be reasons why those who are opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment should vote for Mr. Roosevelt. But these reasons are not to be found in that part of the platform which deals with the liquor question."

"Upon that question there is absolutely no difference in practical effect between the two platforms. Those who are contending otherwise will find out within 90 days after the election is over, if not in 90 minutes. Those who are in favor of the eighteenth amendment have been adroitly and effectually disfranchised so far as the presidential election is concerned. Whenever they vote, they vote for repeal."

Zion's Herald is a New England Methodist weekly.

Bombing Arouses Cermak;
More Police to Be AddedTwo Injured Reported in Critical Condition; Sammons, Reputed Capone Machine-Gunner, Still Hunted,
Although Judge Believes Him Innocent.

Chicago, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—A promise of an augmented police department and a relentless war against terrorism was Chicago's answer tonight to a bombing—apparently directed at a judge—homer which claimed a youth and a young mother.

Mayor Anton J. Cermak issued a statement promising to increase the police force, despite the city's financial straits, to prevent recurrences of such attacks. Police, meanwhile, were checking records of cases in Judge John P. McGorty's Superior Court, seeking possible perpetrators.

The injured—Lee W. Koepfen and Ada Meyer, both 10 years old—were reported in critical conditions at a hospital. The youth's eyes were blown out and his body mangled. Mrs. Meyer, mother of a 4-month-old baby, suffered injuries which may leave her crippled for life.

A search for James "Pur" Sammons, reputed Capone machine gunner, was continued even after Judge McGorty issued a statement saying he believed Sammons was not the bomber. Sammons was sent to prison on a murder charge by Judge McGorty in 1931, only to be released a few weeks ago.

"I don't think Sammons was responsible," the judge said. "There is another person, of erratic nature, whom I sentenced and whom I suspect. He is not a gangster. I have given him a name to police."

Corliss Palmer Defendant
In $100,000 Balm Suit

Los Angeles, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—A $100,000 allegation of affections suit was filed here today against Corliss Palmer, Brewster, estranged young blonde wife of Eugene V. Brewster, former millionaire publisher, by Mrs. Estelle Cohen, wife of Albert J. Cohen, tennis player and publisher's agent.

Mrs. Cohen is the daughter of the late Morris Albus, wealthy Philadelphia manufacturer. Her mother, Mrs. Rose Albus, lives in Winfield, Pa., near Philadelphia.

She charged that Miss Palmer, screen actress and beauty contest winner from Georgia, had stolen

Cohen's affections in a clandestine affair dating back to last October. Along with the "heart balm" suit, Mrs. Cohen filed a petition for divorce, naming Miss Palmer as co-respondent.

The Cohens were married at Philadelphia in 1924. They have a 5-year-old daughter.

Miss Palmer and Brewster became estranged last October after his one large fortune had dwindled to practically nothing, he said. Their romance started after Miss Palmer had won a beauty contest conducted by one of Brewster's "film fan" magazines.

Star Is Evasive on Report
Of Chaplin Engagement

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Pauline Goddard, chief Hollywood movie star, didn't say "yes" and she didn't say "no" when asked upon her arrival here today whether reports of her engagement to Charlie Chaplin were true.

"People just don't discuss those things," she said in answering a barrage of queries held in Moorehead.

"What about that kiss you gave Mr. Chaplin at the airport?" she was asked.

"Oh, that," she countered. "There were ten other people I kissed at the same time, including Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Howard. It was just one big, grand party."

But the kiss she gave to Chaplin was supposed to be a little more fervent, she was informed.

"Every time an actress kisses anybody at all they spread the rumor of their engagement. That's Hollywood. Anyway, if I'd know a kiss was going to cause all this commotion—well, I just wouldn't have kissed at all."

The actress dressed in a champagne crepe frock with a matching turban and a high-collared sable cape, said she was in New York to visit her mother, Mrs. Alpa Goddard.

Why didn't you discuss it with Senator Davis? he was asked.

"It was none of his business, for one thing," she answered.

Judge Frank J. Coleman interrupted with a frown.

"Just a minute, Mr. Brandon," he said, "do you want the jury and myself to believe that Senator Davis had no knowledge of the drawing which just taken place?"

"Well, do you want me to understand that Senator Davis always had opposed gambling and that he had deliberately kept knowledge of the drawing from him?"

"Well, I'm not opposed to the use of Moorehead buildings for any commercialization project."

A few minutes later he was explaining that he "didn't know whether the senator's attitude was purely ethical or not," and that he didn't want to run the risk of losing to the Moorehead Orphanage the $150,000 of proceeds from the charity balls, in case Davis should object.

He said he therefore didn't mention it to the senator, and preferred to "let well enough alone."

"Why were you interested in the $150,000?" he was asked.

"Because it was saving little children," he replied.

didn't bring to court the books and records subpoenaed because Mr. Miller would not let me have them."

Rodney H. Brandon, public welfare director of Illinois, and former supreme dictator of the Moose, testified he had purposely refrained from telling Senator Davis about the drawing lottery for the amount of $123,000. He didn't know whether the senator would be sympathetic.

Why didn't you discuss it with Senator Davis? he was asked.

"It was none of his business, for one thing," she answered.

DAYS IN N 5 OF 8
NEW YORK COURTESYG.O.P. House Candidates on Resubmission or Repeal
Fall Behind.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Prohibition proponents won their battles against those seeking a change in the law in five out of eight Republican congressional contests involving the issue in New York State's primary election yesterday.

The last result of the contests for the new Congress came today with the tabulation of the final ballot in a closely fought battle between Representative Gale H. Stalker, of the Thirty-seventh District, and his young opponent, W. Sterling Cole, Stalker, who campaigned on adherence to the prohibition law, defeated Cole, who was recorded as favoring the Republican resubmission plank, by a slim 132 majority.

Like Stalker, the other four advocates of prohibition fought off attacks on their renomination by candidates who campaigned on planks varying from resubmission to outright repeal. They were Representatives Frank Crowther, Thirtieth District; Frederick M. Davenport, Thirtieth District; Edmund P. Cooke, Forty-fourth District; and Daniel A. Reed, Forty-third.

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—There was great rejoicing in Baller's Snug Harbor on Staten Island today when the 800 retired seamen learned they would be able to vote in a presidential election for the first time in 30 years.

AID BOARD PUNISHING
POOR, PINCHOT SAYSReplies to Hoover and Cites Statement Urging That None Starves.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, pressing for an immediate loan of $100,000,000 by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation on Pennsylvania's plea for relief funds, today telegraphed President Hoover that he looked to him to make good in this State his "guarantee that no one shall starve in this country."

"Through its harsh and needless delay, the board is punishing the poor," the governor said. "Pennsylvania asks for bread and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation gives nothing but words."

Gov. Pinchot's message was his reply to a telegram yesterday from the President, which ignored the governor's request for an appointment Friday to hurry the corporation's action, and declared that the Chief Executive lacked authority "to direct the board to make specific loans or advances."

Appointed by Hoover.

This brought this declaration from Gov. Pinchot:

"I can not concede that you are powerless to help. Whatever may be your legal authority over the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, its members are your appointees, and would unquestionably respect your wishes."

The governor applied to the corporation for a grant of $45,000,000. The maximum available to any one State, more than two months ago, he asked that $100,000,000 be forthcoming promptly to meet distress in the State, but the corporation refused to act on the ground the State had not done its full share to take care of its own needs.

Swift as Candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Boston, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Nomination of Lieut. Gov. William S. Youngman to be the Republican gubernatorial candidate, the apparent victory of John C. Swift for the Democratic designation for lieutenant governor stood out today as highlights of yesterday's primary.

Complete returns from the State's 1,707 districts gave Youngman, 208,937; Frank A. Goodwin, 178,964; E. Mark Sullivan, 18,122; and Walter E. Burnell, Boston, 11,394.

Gov. Joseph B. Ely, Democrat, was unopposed for renomination. In the Democratic contest for lieutenant governor, Swift, Milford, Mass., had 69,580 votes against 68,242 for Edward Barry, of Boston.

On the Republican side for lieutenant governor, Casper G. Bacon, Boston, had 230,485 votes to 194,377 for Chester I. Campbell.

Kidnap Suspect's
Residence Raided

A threat of a court case to one State senatorial contest came today with the publication of a story by the Syracuse Herald quoting the campaign manager for Mrs. Rhoda Fox Graves, only woman member of the Assembly, as saying the renomination of Senator Warren T. Thayer (Republican), of the Thirty-fourth District (St. Lawrence and Franklin Counties) was not conceded.

The campaign manager, Mrs. Graves' husband, was quoted as saying:

"We maintain that we won the nomination by the people, but corruption and political bosses gave it to Thayer. We propose to carry evidence to the courts and ask for an honest election."

Late returns from St. Lawrence, home county of Mrs. Graves, gave Thayer a lead of 141, but the senator's home county, Franklin, virtually had rolled up a 500 majority for him.

$1,000 Counterfeit
Found in Prison

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Eighteen uniformed policemen and 26 detectives, armed with shotguns, rifles and tear gas bombs, today surrounded the house at 70 East Fifty-first street, Brooklyn, in search of a man they sought for questioning in connection with kidnapping of 8-year-old Jackie Russell.

The boy, son of Arthur S. Russell, stock exchange broker, was kidnapped Monday afternoon and released that night.

The police were ordered to the East Fifty-first street address in a radio alarm, which directed them to detain any man found there. The source of the alarm was not disclosed.

The officers failed to find Balsky, but they did find Irving Blaser, who, police said, admitted he was a brother-in-law of the man sought. Police said they found in the house a chauffeur's license bearing the name of Irving Balsky.

Police in New York Trying to Discover Source of Bills.

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—United States secret service agents today were inquiring of the source of the $1,000 counterfeit $10 bills found yesterday on the floor of the detention room on the second floor of the Tompkins County Jail.

Warden Robert Barr said that before the bogus bills were found, approximately 100 prisoners passed through the room to be relieved of their money and other personal property before assignment to cells.

Warden Barr's theory was that one of the prisoners, carrying the counterfeit money, dropped them at the first opportunity.

Shortage Reported
At Bowdoin College

Brunswick, Me., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Bowdoin College officials announced tonight that John C. Thalhimer, burglar of the college since 1926, had been released from the Maine State Prison, where he was serving a term for "discrepancies and inaccuracies in his accounts."

A statement, issued by the college, said the matter was taken at a meeting in Portland last Saturday of the executive committee of the governing boards. Announcement of the action was withheld until tonight.

The statement said the college was "protected by a bonding company for the shortage, which is not great in amount."

The treasurer of the college and the finance committee have been authorized to make arrangements for filling Thalhimer's office, the statement said.

Weds Mrs. Arnold

Baltimore, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Harry H. Morgan, prominent New York lawyer, and Mrs. Edith H. Arnold, of Philadelphia, were married in Baltimore yesterday. It was learned here today.

Coming here after Mrs. Arnold secured a divorce in Philadelphia earlier in the day from Paul Mitchell Arnold, former Army captain, the couple was forced to go to the homes of two clergymen before they succeeded in being married. Morgan was married in 1924 to Mrs. Ivor O'Connor Trevant and was divorced from her three years later in Paris. She charged desertion. The Arnolds were married in 1921 while Mr. Arnold was serving as an Army aide at Washington.

RAIL LABOR CHIEFS
BLOCK WAGE PARLEYRefuse to Discuss Further Cuts With Executives of Carriers.

(Associated Press.)
Railway labor leaders yesterday refused to discuss at this time further pay cut proposals with executives of the carriers.
In reply to a proposal of the railway management committee that a point meeting be held to go into the question, A. F. Whitney, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association, said:
"We are unanimously of the opinion that a wage conference at this time would be unwise and that, having no authority to enter upon such a conference, we should not either seek such authority or encourage any effort to inaugurate wage reductions."
The committee of nine named in Chicago by the carriers to propose a 20 per cent reduction in the basic rate of pay to supplement the 10 per cent deduction which expires in February came here yesterday specifically to lay their views before the 21 labor leaders.

At an informal meeting late Tuesday they sought to ascertain whether the labor executives would discuss the question. W. P. Thiehoff, general manager of the committee, expressed hope after the conference that they would get together yesterday. Whitney's letter to him blasted the hope, however, and the representatives of the carriers adjourned at once, with their next move in doubt.

One member of the committee expressed hope that before the present reduction agreement expires it may be possible to work out a new scale without resorting to the processes of the Railway Mediation Board. Should these negotiations not materialize, the carriers could give notice of the proposed cut, throw it before the mediation board and let it be worked out under the law.

The management committee of the roads said a "substantial number" of the Nation's carriers have already given it authority to seek the 20 per cent cut which was agreed upon several weeks ago.

The Railway Labor Executives Association announced later that a conference had been requested with President Hoover today at which a rail program will be presented for his consideration.
The association also endorsed three candidates for the Senate and announced it would back Senator Brookhart (Republican), of Iowa, if he chooses to run as an independent. The others were Representative Dellich (Democrat), of Illinois; Crompton White (Democrat), of Idaho, seeking the seat now occupied by Senator Thomas, Republican, and Fred H. Brown (Democrat), of New Hampshire, running against Senator Moses, Republican.

U.S. Encroachment
In Insurance Is HitAgents' Spokesman Asserts
Wholesale Risk Idea Is Perilous Trend.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Warning that Government agencies are encroaching upon the insurance business was sounded today by Walter H. Bennett, of New York, Secretary-counsel of the National Association of Insurance Agents. He addressed the association's annual convention here, attacking what he termed the "wholesale insurance idea," under which, he said, commissions to agents are eliminated.

"I feel impelled," he said, "to warn members of the national association against further encroachment into the business of the insurance agents by the Government Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Federal Home Loan Bank Board."
"There lies within the province of these Federal organizations a potential harm to the agents of great dimensions. These Government agencies appear to be impressed with the wholesale insurance idea. The reason given is economy of operation. The real danger lies in the influence that may be wielded by certain insurance companies or large insurance brokers who go after this business end."

British Cotton Walkout
Parley Near Deadlock

Manchester, Eng., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Negotiations for ending the cotton strike which has been going on for several weeks approached a virtual deadlock tonight. Workers and mill owners meeting in committee split on the issue of wages, neither side willing to budge from the position which caused the strike.

CAUTION ON FAR EAST

churian question, an attitude of not wishing to antagonize Japan.
This attitude was reported to have been shown, in informal conversations, to Senator Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania. The latter's status abroad, State Department officials have maintained, is unofficial. However, with Ambassador Edge, he discussed both the German and Manchurian situations at a luncheon given by Premier Herriot. He also talked over these questions with British officials.

Recent indications from Paris were that Reed had linked America's strong desire to have the European powers back up her stand in the Manchurian case with the French and British position against Germany's new arms equality demand. These nations have held that Germany was seeking to break a clause of the Versailles treaty.

He discussed, press reports said, the question of sanctity of treaties, and America's hope that both European and Oriental treaties would be regarded by the powers as equally binding.

However, the reaction in Washington to these reports was an immediate disavowal of the United States from the Versailles treaty, to which this country is not a signatory.

President Hoover Tuesday in a direct statement to the Paris news dispatches, said the American concern over Germany's demand was limited to the question of disarmament, and that Germany should continue to participate in the world disarmament conference.

Since that time there has been official silence here on the entire subject.

The Business Upturn

Gain in Electric Power Production Is Reported; Car-loading Increase Shown by Six Railroads; Steel
Output Advances 1/2 Per Cent in Week.

(Associated Press.)
Business developments yesterday included:
Pittsburgh, Pa.—The Gulf Refining Co. announced a program for $800,000 worth of construction at Washington, D. C., and Staten Island. A $800,000 terminal and a $500,000 refinery comprise the projects.

New York.—An increase in electric power production—said by many economists to indicate increased factory activity—was reported by the National Electric Light Association for the week ended September 17. The gain was 32,465,000 kilowatt hours.

New York.—Six railroads reported an aggregate increase of 13,272 cars in car loadings for the week ended September 17, compared with the previous week.

Chicago.—R. G. Dun & Co. reported Illinois factories gained 2.3 per cent in employment and 8.8 per cent in output for August. A pickup in retail clothing sales, mail order trade, and the meat packing industry was reported.

Atlanta, Ga.—Business leaders of Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South

Carolina, Virginia and Arkansas reported improvement in public sentiment. A survey indicated the South's fall marketing season, an increase in public construction, upward trends in tobacco and cotton prices, and activity in the textile industry was responsible.

New York.—Current steel production was estimated by Iron Age at 16 per cent of capacity, a gain of 1/2 per cent over last week. The publication referred to "widespread confidence among consumers as well as producers of steel."

Bloomington, Ill.—An Illinois Chamber of Commerce survey showed a stove factory, a heating device factory, and a candy company have increased their pay rolls substantially. The stove factory reemployed 185 men, making the total force 300—as large as any time since 1925.

Sioux City, Iowa.—Three hundred thousand dollars will be spent this fall on dikes and reclamation work on the Missouri River here in the Government's program to make the river navigable, it was announced by A. J. Schwartz, chief clerk of the War Department's engineering office.

Military Rule in Oklahoma
Oil Row Spreads to Roads

Oklahoma City, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The military domain, burning issue in the Oklahoma City oil field protraction controversy, was spread to even the public roads in the field by Gov. W. H. Murray today.

At the same time, he announced steps were being taken to bring perjury charges against officials of the H. F. Wilcox Oil & Gas Co. and the Blackwell Oil & Gas Co., concerns accused of overproduction, for alleged false reports to the State corporation commission.

Murray's extension of military surveillance by more than 150 Guardsmen now in the field followed clashes yesterday between troops and Wilcox employees.

One oil company employee was struck on the head and two others were arrested. The Guardsmen locked up Wilcox wells, which the workers had opened under a supreme court supersedeas bond.

The governor's new order, which superseded an earlier one declaring military law in a 100-foot radius around each well, "will take in the public roads and vacant lots and everything but the premises about the private dwellings," he declared.

Guardmen Murray added, will halt any "lawyer who attempts to interfere."

"Damn it," said Gov. Murray, "these lawyers can't get it through their heads what military rule is. When you have a military zone, there is no writ of habeas corpus."

At Tulsa, Homer Wilcox, head of the Wilcox Co., said Gov. Murray and Col. Cicero J. Murray, in charge of protraction enforcement, were "drunk with authority."

Eight City Officials
Sentenced to Jail
Hollywood, Fla., Group Is Held for Spending Funds
Pending Suit.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Eight municipal officials of Hollywood, Fla., including the city commission, were sentenced to 30 days in the Broward County Jail today by Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth on a contempt charge growing out of their alleged expenditure of city funds since the filing of a mandamus suit by A. L. Spitzer, Toledo, Ohio, bondholder.

The sentences are Mayor William L. Adams, City Commissioners T. L. Norfleet, D. L. David, James A. Lewis and M. S. Worland; City Manager Fred MacReady, City Clerk Frank A. Cooke, and City Tax Collector Arthur A. Surber. Sentence will begin at the end of a three-day period unless a stay of execution is granted by the supreme court.

The specific charge was that they had failed to heed the mandamus obtained by Spitzer, requiring that the city pay him $1,500 interest on bonds long over due.

Mechanical refrigerators, matches, and sporting goods showed proportionate gains.
For the two months of the fiscal year, July and August, covered by the bureau's report, the total of taxes collected amounted to $141,626,778, as compared with $142,563,398 in the same period last year. The lesser total this year was caused by a decrease of $12,482,790 in July from the same month of last year.

While the new taxes moved upward income taxes continued down, bringing in $15,083,057. This was a drop of $1,600,000 for the month and of $10,150,000 from last August. Tobacco taxes increased $1,100,000 to $35,591,797, as compared with July but decreased $282,000, as compared with August, 1931. Miscellaneous taxes dropped $188,000 to $1,000,208, as compared with July and $292,000, as compared with August, last year.

PRICE MANIPULATION
ON COTTON IS DENIEDNew Orleans Exchange Head
Demands Texas Back Up Legislature Charge.

New Orleans, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—A resolution recently adopted by the Texas Legislature, charging "vicious and unwarranted manipulation" of cotton values had occurred on the New Orleans, New York and Chicago Cotton Exchanges following the September Government crop estimate, drew an emphatic denial today from Russell Clark, president of the New Orleans exchange. He demanded that the Legislature disclose the evidence on which the charges were based.

Clark, together with the names and addresses of the parties who were guilty of these practices.
"Asking for proof of the allegations in a letter addressed to the presiding officers of the Texas Senate and House of Representatives, he said:
"If, contrary to our knowledge and belief, there took place on our exchange any malicious destruction of values or any manipulation, we have adequate disciplinary provisions to see that proper punishment be meted out to those guilty of these offenses and to prevent a recurrence. On receipt of your evidence we will investigate it fully and either demonstrate its incorrectness or punish those who are guilty of the practices you charge."

The resolution adopted at Austin requested the United States Department of Agriculture and Congress to "control and regulate" cotton exchanges "to prevent a recurrence of the unwholesome, demoralizing and malicious destruction of values" alleged to have occurred in the past few weeks, following the Government Census Bureau's estimate for a crop of 11,310,000 bales.

Chicago, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—A building with a breathing dome hanging from a spider's web of cables was dedicated today as the travel and transport building of the century of progress exposition. For more than a year its ultra modern design has elicited exclamations from visitors driving through Chicago past the fast-growing colony of world's fair buildings, and the controversy has waged unceasingly among architects and engineers over the windowless structure, shaped so that it resembles a huge gas tank.

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Kaye Don, noted British speedboat driver, again proved himself a graceful lower today when he extended wireless congratulations to Gar Wood, of Detroit, for the latter's new world water record of 124.91 miles an hour, achieved yesterday on Lake St. Clair.

Chicago, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Organization of young women of the Nation to cooperate with the Young Republican League in seeking votes for the Hoover-Curtis ticket was announced today by campaign leaders.

Jean Summers, of Walla Walla, Wash., daughter of Representative John W. Summers, had been named director of the movement. She plans to form in every State organizations of women between the ages of 21 and 35.

Atlanta, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The body of a man, identified by police as O. Adair Earle, who registered at a hotel from Cincinnati, Ohio, was found today with a bullet wound through the head. A note addressed "to whom it may concern," said the writer had neither money nor relatives. It asked that the body be turned over to "the State Medical Association, or buried in Potter's field. I am a successful failure."

Indianapolis, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—The Supreme Council of Scottish Rite today selected Boston for its meeting in September, 1933.

CANADIAN RAILWAY
REFORM PLEDGEDCommission Proposes Trustees to Replace Director-
ates of Roads.

Ottawa, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Government backing today was pledged to a program to release the government-owned Canadian National Railways from "political and community influences" and to ease up its competition with the Canadian Pacific Railways, even to the point of combining certain services.

Appointment of three trustees to replace the directorates of seventeen and the creation of an arbitral tribunal to settle disagreements between the C. N. R. and Canadian Pacific Railways were among recommendations of a royal commission on railways and transportation, made public today.

Premier R. B. Bennett said the recommendations, aiming to terminate "financial irresponsibility on the part of the management of the C. N. R." and "aggressive and unprofitable competition between the C. N. R. and C. P. R." would be backed by the government.

Legislation to give effect to the long list of remedies proposed by the commission will be introduced after the recommendations are presented in Parliament, October 6, he declared.

The commission's report concluded with the warning that unless the Dominion adopts its plan or measures equally effective, the stability of the nation's finances and the financial credit of the C. P. R. will be threatened "with serious consequences to the people of Canada and to those who have invested their savings in the C. P. R."

The C. P. R. is a privately owned company, while the C. N. R. is owned by the government.

THE FORT DEARBORN MASSACRE

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the artist, N. C. Wyeth... inspired by the heartless treachery of a band of vicious Miami Indians, who massacred the settlers with inhuman ferocity... August 15, 1812.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

—and raw tobaccos
have no place in cigarettesThey are not present in Luckies
... the mildest cigarette
you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, the he build his house in the woods; the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

RADICALS REPUDIATED.

Wisconsin has emphatically repudiated Gov. La Follette, Senator Blaine and several other members of the La Follette clique that has dominated that State for 40 years. By an overwhelming vote Wisconsin cast its lot with the conservative Republican element that is supporting President Hoover. In this period of hard times the quackery that is disguised as Progressivism has been thrown out of the window in favor of practical and sound plans of dealing with economic conditions.

This result was forecast when Wisconsin sent a delegation pledged to President Hoover to the Chicago convention. But political observers were not prepared for such a far-reaching overturn of the La Follette dynasty. Former Gov. Kohler obtained a majority of nearly 100,000 for the governorship nomination over young Philip La Follette. The defeat of Senator Blaine by an Ashland editor, John B. Chapple, was not so decisive, but it is none the less welcome to citizens who are familiar with Blaine's tortuous path in the Senate.

Senator Brookhart's defeat in Iowa gave warning to his fellow insurgents that 1932 is a bad year for quacks in Congress. The collapse of the La Follette dynasty gives powerful impetus to the movement to rid the Republican party of traitors. Senators Norris, of Nebraska; La Follette, of Wisconsin, and other wildmen in the Middle West who are accustomed to knifing their party may well tremble in their boots. The vote in Wisconsin is a tremendous blow to the entire program of the radicals.

Aside from this revolt against the insurgents, the Wisconsin vote is significant. It contradicts the assumption that the Middle West has been converted to radicalism as a result of the depression. An attempt is made to show that the defeat of the La Follette candidates was due to the desertion of Democratic voters who chose to cast their ballots in their own primaries this year. But this alibi is sharply contradicted by the facts. Out of approximately 900,000 ballots cast, the Democratic vote appears to be less than 150,000.

The overturn in Wisconsin is even more sweeping than was the Democratic victory in Maine. Small majorities were recorded by the Democrats in the Pine Tree State, while in Wisconsin overwhelming victory for the insurgents in 1930 was turned into overwhelming defeat in 1932. The contest between Democratic and regular Republican candidates in Wisconsin foreshadows a Hoover victory in November.

The effect of the Wisconsin election is to even the score between President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt. Each side has achieved a victory in territory where it was least expected. These two upsets tend to discredit all pre-election forecasts as to the outcome. There may be other changes of alignment in other parts of the country. What happens between now and November 8 may decide who shall be the next President.

AGREEMENT AT STRESA.

A compromise agreement has been adopted by the conference at Stresa, Italy, on the economic rehabilitation of central and eastern Europe. Features of the French, German and Italian proposals are embodied in the agreement. Great Britain, has not accepted the plan and probably will remain aloof from its provisions.

Under the terms of this agreement the agricultural states will be granted preferences in the markets of Europe's industrial countries. The preferences will apply to shipments of grain from each country in amounts equal to the average for the last three years. In return for this privilege the agrarian states must give concessions to the industrial states, if they have not already done so. In negotiating for these concessions the interests of third states enjoying most-favored-nation treatment must be safeguarded.

A fund of $14,475,000 per year is to be raised for the economic and financial reconstruction of the Balkan and central states. Each nation adhering to the agreement will be required to make contributions. The amount each pledges itself to pay will be reduced to the extent to which that country grants preferences to the distressed agrarian states.

The results of the conference are highly disappointing to some European statesmen. Like most international conferences, the Stresa gathering compromised until its objective was partially smothered. But it seems to have taken at least one step toward closer economic relations between industrial and agricultural Europe. In this respect the Stresa conference may be likened to the Ottawa gathering, at which agreements were made for the sale of more British manufactures to the dominions and more dominion raw materials to British factories. Under the pressure of hard times geographical and political groups are trying to bring about a larger measure of cooperation between their agricultural and industrial interests.

Fortunately, the United States does not need to go abroad to foster closer relations between the farm and factory. The greatest market of American agriculture is to be found in American industrial centers. The greatest market for manufactured goods is to be found within the borders of the 48 States. Although the effects of the Ottawa and Stresa conferences are not expected to be far-reaching, their tendency is to make American farmers and industrialists more dependent, one upon the other. American prosperity is based on the free exchange of industrial and agricultural products within the 48 States behind a protective tariff policy.

TARIFF CONCESSIONS.

In his address at Seattle Gov. Roosevelt further explained the Democratic theory of expanding foreign trade through special reciprocal tariff concessions. This policy, he said, "is based in large part upon the simple principle of profitable exchange arrived at through negotiated tariffs with benefits to each nation." Gov. Roosevelt visualizes the United States exporting its surplus commodities in exchange for other goods that can not be produced to advantage in this country.

This theory of international barter is entirely clear. What Gov. Roosevelt failed to do is to correlate it with actual conditions in the United States. By mutual concessions he proposed to sweep away the "outrageous rates" of the Smoot-Hawley act and restore international trade to a basis of profit for every one concerned. But the governor made no attempt to show how that could be done without exposing large groups of American farmers and workmen to foreign competition which they can not meet.

As examples of the "ruin" which has been spread by the present tariff policy, Gov. Roosevelt pointed to Canada's "retaliatory tariffs" on peaches, asparagus and other farm products. If these duties are in fact retaliatory, they were levied in opposition to the United States' increased duties on Canadian farm products. But Gov. Roosevelt is in favor of adequate protection for the farmer. Should he attempt to negotiate a treaty for mutual tariff concessions with Canada, how could he maintain protection for the American farmer and also secure for him preferences in the Canadian market?

It is notable that all Gov. Roosevelt's examples of retaliatory tariffs, which he proposes to abolish, involve agricultural products. It is the agricultural tariff that irks foreign nations wishing to dispose of their products in this country. If Gov. Roosevelt had given serious attention to the facts involved, he would not promise to maintain protection for agriculture while at the same time granting tariff concessions to other agricultural countries.

Gov. Roosevelt's entire theory seems to be compressed into these words, "If they (foreign countries) have something we need, and we have something they need, a tariff agreement should be made satisfactory to both." As a matter of fact, all commodities the United States needs from other countries are now on the free list, excepting a few luxuries that are taxed for revenue. Is Gov. Roosevelt aware of the fact that two-thirds of all imports into this country enter free? Under the existing policy duties are levied only where they are needed to protect American enterprise against competition with countries having a lower standard of living.

Since commodities on the free list can not be used in bargaining with foreign countries, concessions can be obtained only by penalizing one group in the American economic system in favor of another. Gov. Roosevelt's trip to the West will doubtless impress him with the great diversity of American products. Which product would he select to be penalized for the benefit of another?

REDISTRIBUTION OF GOLD.

A year has been completed since Great Britain decreed the suspension of the gold standard. That momentous decision shook the financial centers of the world and put the American dollar to such a test as it had not experienced in half a century. Apprehension at home and the conviction in many European countries that it could not weather the storm have been proved groundless, and the gold standard is more strongly entrenched than ever in this country.

The startling announcement that England had ceased gold redemption ended a costly struggle during six years to restore the pound sterling to parity. France and the United States loaned heavily at the end to help Britain, but confidence had fled from the pound and every country in Europe was draining gold from the Bank of England. The strain became too great with the inevitable end of reserves in sight. With abandonment of gold payments the pound dropped from $4.84 to $3.70, in December reached a low under $3.25.

Foreign holders of American securities and funds began calling for gold. Before the alarm was quieted by the demonstration that American gold resources were ample to liquidate all claims from abroad, more than $1,100,000,000 had been withdrawn from this country to increase the gold stocks of twenty-seven European nations. The outflow of gold came to an end last June, since which time the tide has turned with returning confidence, and gold in smaller measure has been flowing back.

When the financial skies had somewhat cleared it was seen that only four nations besides the United States remained on the gold standard—France, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland. It was to these nations that most of the American gold exports migrated. During the period from September, 1931, to June, 1932, the increase of European gold stocks, amounting to a total of $1,419,000,000, resulted in adding to the holdings of various nations as follows: France, $922,000,000; Switzerland, $274,000,000; Belgium, $136,000,000; Netherlands, $134,000,000, and Russia, $69,000,000.

United States gold holdings, which reached the highest point before the British abandonment of gold, $5,015,000,000, fell to $3,909,000,000, a loss of 22 per cent. Gold in Latin American countries declined to $245,000,000, a loss of $55,000,000, while the six more important Asiatic countries contributed $187,000,000 to assuage Europe's panic, reducing their holdings to $508,000,000. Since last June about 20 per cent of the gold withdrawn from the United States has returned. The heavy drain, of course, was the withdrawal of France's deposits of $814,000,000.

England's action in suspending the gold standard, naturally, caused world-wide demoralization of the exchange market and serious inconveniences to trade. The Scandinavian countries, Japan, and Egypt, which carried heavy reserves in sterling, were obliged to follow Britain's lead, while in virtually all the countries of Central Europe and South America stringent restrictions were placed upon exchange, most of which are still in force. With the established soundness of the dollar many world transactions have turned to it for stability in quotations. England is again accumulating gold from various sources, and financial authorities here and in London agree that Great Britain realizes the necessity of stabilizing the pound again on the gold standard as soon as it can be accomplished. Meanwhile the American dollar is recognized throughout the world as representing the one important gold standard currency which has suffered neither depreciation nor inflation and which today is in an absolutely impregnable position.

Guess it's just a coincidence that the stock market raced downward after the Maine election and nearly jumped out of its boots when it heard the news from Wisconsin.

Senator Bob La Follette's grief at the destruction of his machine in Wisconsin is perhaps outweighed by thankfulness that he was not running this year.

The barrage of "carrambas" and expenditure of grimaces and shrugs in the Gran Chaco threaten an acute shortage of munitions of war.

The Republicans in the Senate not having had the nerve to throw out the renegade Progressives, the voters are doing it for them.

THE WASHINGTON TEETH

From the Boston Transcript.

Research in the field of dental archeology, the results of which are communicated by Dr. Walter J. Pryor, of Cleveland, to the American Dental Association, reveals a new activity by our great Boston master of all trades, Paul Reverie, but it can hardly be said to add new lustre to the fame of the messenger of Lexington. Dr. Pryor has ascertained that Reverie made a set of false teeth and presented them to Gen. George Washington, presumably during the period when Washington commanded the siege of Boston. But these teeth were so unsatisfactory, on account of their propensity for falling out of the illustrious wearer's mouth, that the general had to discard them and look for another set. This new set was made for him, from a hippopotamus' teeth, by a Dr. Greenwood, of New York, but it was quite evidently no improvement on Reverie's work. His false teeth were set in a wrought-gold base, and were so uncomfortable that it was only with difficulty and distress that Washington could wear them. The maker, it is said, advised Washington, who by this time was President, to soak the teeth each night in port wine. They were, moreover, disfiguring, for they forced the lower jaw into a degree of protrusion which spoiled the President's majestic beauty.

Why it should appear to have been of advantage to make the Washingtonian teeth out of the teeth of the hippopotamus, or what could have been the peculiar efficacy of port wine in reducing the discomfort inflicted by the Greenwood set, is not made clear by Dr. Pryor's statement. Possibly the teeth of the hippopotamus, which are of peculiarly voracious and alarming appearance, are more workable under the knife than any other dental substance. At all events, the Greenwood set evidently made the first President feel as if the dentist were trying to make a hippopotamus out of him. The Father of His Country was certainly unfortunate in being under the necessity of acting as a field of experimentation for his country's early dental art. Perhaps we have additional reason for honoring him, in the bicentenary of his earthly appearance, for his patient services in helping to form a science in which the United States has far outstripped all other nations. He must be regarded as the Father of American Dentistry.

Our Own Gandhi.

POST HASTE.

Don't malign a discriminating public. It has already decided that Senators Blaine and Brookhart will make good private citizens, and the alphabet has just begun.

There are many ways of helping silver without disturbing the currency of the United States, assures Gov. Roosevelt. It is going to be exciting when he begins to disclose the mysteries.

Just so that there may be no mistake about it, Wisconsin again signals thumbs down on La Follettism.

"The Colombian government refuses to accept a Peruvian proposal for settlement of the occupation of Leticia." This certainly can not be our sensible President Oliva speaking.

Those professors at Gov. Roosevelt's elbow are succeeding admirably in keeping his speeches from antagonizing anybody, but is that, enough?

It seems as though Gov. Pinchot would get the idea eventually that the R. F. C. does not distribute funds indiscriminately to street solicitors.

Farmers generally are about as divided on relief measures as Iowa brethren are on selling food and denying it to Sioux City.

A winning personality enables Gov. Roosevelt, even over the radio, to arouse enthusiasm for his sonorous generalities.

The most unkindest cut yet for former Mayor Walker is cutting his name out of the Italian newspapers.

Whispering campaigns disparaging Gov. Roosevelt's health are vicious and false. He has made a wonderful recovery from his attack of infantile paralysis. He is perfectly well, his bodily strength is remarkable and his mental faculties are as astute as they ever were. Let's keep the liars out of this campaign.

Gandhi's slow fast for propaganda purposes doesn't help the untouchables he has deserted.

New York headquarters says Gov. Roosevelt will announce his stand on the bonus upon his return. Better never than too late.

"Al Smith to end his silence at State convention, October 3." That gives the New Outlook a two-day start on the newstands.

"Shopping throngs reach holiday size in New York." Those Republicans stop at no expense to make a showing.

CIRCUS MEMORIES.
Oh, never comes the circus with its wonders into town
But I recall a little boy who longed to be a clown,
And high above the heads of all an acrobat I see
That little lad of long ago was hopeful he would be.

No care had he for words that rhyme.
A more entrancing thing
Was jumping on and off a horse
Within a fewest ring.
And all the verses ever penned he'd gladly trade back then
To be the spangled hero in the roaring lions' den.

There was a riding lady in a fluffy skirt of pink
Who might have lured this little boy away from printer's ink,
But destiny or fortune or the fates (or was it dad?)
Contrived to change the life-work of this circus-dreaming lad.

He would not now retrace his steps.
Through eyes now growing dim
He sees an acrobat's career would not have done for him.
But still when bands are playing and the circus barkers shout
A little boy of fifty-one walks wide-eyed round about.

The More a Man Hates His Failures, the Less He Likes Those Who Witnessed It.

By ROBERT QUILEN

If you wish to win or keep an individual's friendship, never share an experience of which he will feel ashamed.

Some years ago a young man named Smith, having proven his worth as a branch manager, was invited to the metropolis to meet the big men of his company.

Smith was modest, unworldly and innocent of guile. His experience of iniquity had been limited to an occasional glass of illicit brew at the home of a friend; dirty stories shamed and disgusted him; and he promptly deserted any group that began to talk about women.

The big men of his company knew nothing of his private life. Their purpose in calling him to headquarters was to estimate his character and determine his fitness for a bigger job.

At the home office he met the president, the treasurer and the manager and was invited to dine with them.

The dinner proved to be the prelude of a gay evening and Smith did his best to share the holiday spirit of his hosts.

He drank with the president and became equally tipsy; he swapped dirty stories with the treasurer; he talked about women as the manager did.

In short, he hid his own tastes and standards and personality and dutifully kept the pace set by his superiors. He was eager to please.

Next day he was sent back to his small-town job. The president, the treasurer and the manager had discussed him frankly and decided that he was unfit for higher company.

"He drinks too much," said the president.

"He tells disgusting stories," said the treasurer.

"He talks about women," said the manager.

Of course this was unfair to Smith, but they had to judge him by the little they had seen.

The president had drunk as much as Smith, but such drinking was unusual for him. He was ashamed of it and he disliked Smith for sharing his shame.

The treasurer and manager, being tipsy, had told dirty stories and talked about women, but they knew they were gentlemen despite the lapse, while Smith apparently made a practice of such things. Anyway they didn't care to associate with a man who had seen them at their worst. Without knowing just why, they blamed him for their bad showing.

Every Noah curses the one who sees his nakedness.

The man and woman who trade reputation for love will end by hating one another.

When remorse comes, we hate the one who shared our shame. We hate him because one so base dared to be the equal of one as respectable as we are.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Two Views.

Kansas City Times.

Here are two views of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation from eminent Democrats. The first was expressed by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee. At the Democratic rally at Mexico, Mo., the senator listed the corporation as one of the "quick remedies" of Mr. Hoover and continued by asserting that the President had "conducted the affairs of this Nation solely in the interest of the great and powerful and influential classes of our citizens;" that he had "lavished untold governmental riches on the favored few and has paid no attention to the great masses of our citizenship," with "ruin for all."

A few days previous, another outstanding member of the Democratic party, Atlee Pomerene, former senator from Ohio and now chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation board, had said: "Keeping these facts in mind (the nature of loans made by the corporation), I submit that it is not fair criticism of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act to say that loans are made only to banks and to railroads—and that the average man is not benefited thereby. Every loan made or authorized—whether to the banks, the insurance companies, building and loan associations or other kindred credit corporations, or to railroads—has been of positive benefit to their several communities."

No small part of the loans, he said, had gone into additions and betterments and "to pay wages and past-due vouchers."

Obviously these views are contradictory and can not both be right. Obviously, too, Mr. Pomerene is in a position to know far more about the subject than Mr. McKellar.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Observations on Mr. Ullman's Proposed Psychological Tests of Automobile Drivers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having read William Ullman's very interesting article, "Tests for Drivers," Post, September 20, in which he seems to favor "psychological tests" for those seeking motor-vehicle operators' permits, I will fail to see that such tests, although desirable in the improvement of traffic conditions, will be of as great importance as is claimed in the solution of the traffic-safety problem.

We are told that motor-vehicle officials are inclined to believe that "the difference between a safe driver and an unsafe one will turn out to be some quality resident in their respective mentalities." And then:

"The cold fact is that more complete and carefully analyzed accident data tend to support the theory that from 85 to 90 per cent of all mishaps are directly traceable to the human element."

If that is so, the number of automobile drivers would be reduced by millions if the psychological tests were put in practice. The task of properly recording the tests would be arduous, and, in my opinion, insuperable. If it were fully accomplished and the resulting regulations strictly enforced, there would be such a drop in the sale of cars as to bankrupt the automobile industry and set back the drive for prosperity for as long as many years to come.

The question arises in regard to what degree of safe-driving mentality, if it can be psychologically fixed, would be necessary to approximate the norm of safety. And then again, how would it be possible to keep efficient tab on the inevitable mental and physical changes which would be constantly taking place among the millions of holders of safe-driving permits?

Of course, there will never be such a thing as absolute street and highway traffic safety. But it is inconsistent with what we claim for Christian civilization to say that the number of fatalities and maimings by automobiles can not be reduced to a minimum, as in the case of the railroads.

The safe operation of the automobile requires much and constant practice in addition to the necessary mental equipment. The average driver does not do enough driving under all conditions to be really expert, although few will admit it. To insure a reasonable degree of safety the speed should be regulated so as to suit the driving ability of the average driver, which may be determined by careful observation and experience. And the tendency to fix speeds to suit the dexterity of the really expert driver does not seem reasonable if safety is the main consideration.

The value of psychological tests has not yet been sufficiently verified by experience to warrant the assumption that by their application the safety of motor traffic can be assured. As at present mentally equipped, the general public is not equal to the negotiation of expert speed without a dreadful toll of death from year to year. Reduce the speed to conform with the motor mentality of drivers of not enough experience, and so far as safety is concerned it will work wonders. I do not admit that as a result of this the automobile industry would suffer. By limiting its output to automobiles geared to less than the speed of safe-assumed experts, I would not wonder if there should be a noticeable increase in the industry's business. F. P. JACOBS.

Taxpayer Can't See That Bonus Payment Would Hurt Anybody.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This letter is prompted by an editorial entitled, "The Bonus Question," in your issue of September 15. As I see it, the difference between prosperity and a depression is merely the speed with which money passes from one person to another. In other words, if money moves easily and freely we have prosperity; and if people hoard and dread to part with money we have a depression. Hardly so simple as all that, you say. Well, think it over.

If the foregoing is true, pray tell me how the dealing out of this bonus money is going to harm the taxpayers in the long run? I can't see that it will. On the contrary, I think that the most of this bonus money, if paid, would go right back into circulation again, thereby improving business just that much.

Another thing that seems unfair to me is the fact that the Government has money to spend for something like prohibition, which obviously only benefits a few people, yet a terrible howl is put up all over the country, and especially by the newspapers, about paying this soldiers' bonus. Why, I ask you, the hand-out to one gang and not the other?

I was never in the military service, but I am a taxpayer. So, you see, I am actuated largely by humanitarian principles. Moreover, I like to see every individual and group of people treated fairly and provided with the wherewithal to live decently and happily. G. C. HART, Baltimore, Md.

Tariff Reduction Would Put Factories Out of Business.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The tariff is to the American workman what the cow is to most babies—its source of nourishment. Without that source either would perish. Let tariffs be lowered as Gov. Roosevelt advocates, and the people will certainly have plenty of time for reflection. As bad as times are now, some factories are running, and others are being added daily to the active list, but let the tariffs be lowered and a dozen Reconstruction Finance Corporation will not be able to keep them going. CIVIL SERVICE CHIEF SCORES DISMISSALS

Section of Economy Act on Workers' Martial Status Called "Unwise."

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 22.—Thomas E. Campbell, president of the Civil Service Commission, said yesterday that he regards the provision of the economy act for dismissal of married persons in the Federal service where necessary as unwise. He spoke at the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada.

"The commission regards the martial status provision of the economy law as unwise," he said. "It believes that merit alone should be the yardstick of measurement for employment in the Government service, but the law is the mandate, and it will be enforced until it is repealed. The way to dispose of a bad law is to enforce it rigidly."

Referring to reports that married persons have separated in an attempt to evade the operation of the law, he said that such action would not give them immunity. The commission, he said, "must judge whether the separations are for bona fide reasons, and not for evasion."

Mr. Campbell's speech was an outline of the personnel situation in the Federal service. He argued for consolidation of overlapping functions, and described the steps which are being taken to this end.

STRUGGLE FOR POWER IN DIET OF PRUSSIA

Adjournment Until After
Election on November 6
Is Likely Tomorrow.

Berlin, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—National Socialists in the Prussian Diet removed the threat of a struggle with the national government today by presenting a resolution to the effect that so long as the present government of Prussia observes the constitution, the Diet and other officials must do likewise.

Prussia is still governed by a federal commission appointed some time ago when Chancellor von Papen, with the authority of President von Hindenburg, named a commissioner to replace the disbanded Prussian cabinet.

On August 30 the Communists in the Prussian Diet, supported by the National Socialists, passed a resolution demanding that the president abolish the dictatorial government and that Prussian officials be permitted to ignore the orders of the federal commission.

Last week the president served summary notice on the Prussian Diet leaders that he expected that bill to be repealed.

So today while the Communists jeered and shouted "Right about face" the Nazi spokesman presented his conciliatory resolution.

It will be voted upon tomorrow. Then on Friday the Diet probably will adjourn until after the Reichstag election on November 6.

Before today's session ended the Diet defeated a Communist motion for dissolution.

Government officials gave no indication of action today when the disarmament conference bureau resumed its deliberations with a German representative. President Hoover's recent statement recommending that Germany remain in conference was received respectfully on the Wilhelmstrasse. In official circles it was said the President's statement illustrated the need for real disarmament in the sense that Germany always has advocated. At the same time it was intimated Germany must stand by her demand for equality in armaments and can not renege the arms conference unconditionally.

CASTE PACT MAY END GANDHI STARVATION

nationalist leader during the day and upon emerging from the jail said Gandhi probably could last twenty days without taking food.

"But he may not recover," Palachar said, "if he fasts over ten days."

Gandhi apparently somewhat famished though he kept up his cheerfulness and pursued his usual tasks during the day. He was removed to the condemned ward temporarily vacant, so that he would not have to walk to the jail superintendent's office to meet visitors.

Established on the cot in the more spacious ward, Gandhi continued to do his spinning, though a large number of visitors called to see him. Many of these were simply curious, and stood off staring at the brown man without attempting to talk with him.

Occasionally Gandhi sips a glass of water. Some of his associates, who have known him for many years, believe his abstention from food will not have a serious effect on his health for many days.

It is recalled that he starved himself for 21 days in 1924 as a protest against Hindu-Muslim riots in India. He is now more experienced in dieting and fasting, and has been several years experienced with various simple foods.

CHOSEN 637 G. A. N. VANCE

400 Others, Too Feeble to
Walk, Ride in Autos in Annual Parade.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Slow in step but firm in spirit, 637 aged members of the Grand Army of the Republic saluted their commander-in-chief as they passed in review at the sixty-sixth annual encampment today.

The 637 in the line of march constituted a majority of veterans attending the annual encampment here. They were accompanied by 400 feeble to ride in automobiles past the reviewing stand, where Samuel P. Town, Philadelphia, received salutes with his sword.

Nearing its close, the encampment voted to hold next year's meeting in St. Paul, Minn.

The veterans heard in the report of its legislative committee a criticism of the recent bonus march. The "insistence and excessive demands" of World War veterans were blamed in the report for failure of the U. S. to obtain pension legislation it recommended last year. Its proposed legislation would have increased monthly pensions of Civil War veterans.

The report said because of the general business conditions, President Hoover suggested the legislation should wait.

"We assured him," the report said, "the Grand Army, of all organizations, would not embarrass the President of the United States."

Tomorrow the veterans will choose their new commander and other officers as they wind up business preparatory to mustering out.

HERRIOT OBSERVER AT ARMS MEETING

French quarters the premier wished to be on hand to discuss the disarmament conference and a discussion of the German issue.

Arthur Henderson, chairman of the conference, suggested that discussion of that demand be postponed until the German government had time to reply to a letter which he wrote urging continued participation in the conference.

"We are coming to a crossroads where we must make a choice between peace and disarmament for a race in armaments and eventual war," he said in reviewing the first phase of the conference.

The committee began discussion of the possibility of abolishing peace-time preparations for chemical warfare. The secretary-general was asked to furnish expert opinion as to whether the materials and instruments of gas warfare might be entirely abolished in peace time.

SPRINGFIELD SEES 637 G. A. N. VANCE

400 Others, Too Feeble to
Walk, Ride in Autos in Annual Parade.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Slow in step but firm in spirit, 637 aged members of the Grand Army of the Republic saluted their commander-in-chief as they passed in review at the sixty-sixth annual encampment today.

The 637 in the line of march constituted a majority of veterans attending the annual encampment here. They were accompanied by 400 feeble to ride in automobiles past the reviewing stand, where Samuel P. Town, Philadelphia, received salutes with his sword.

Nearing its close, the encampment voted to hold next year's meeting in St. Paul, Minn.

The veterans heard in the report of its legislative committee a criticism of the recent bonus march. The "insistence and excessive demands" of World War veterans were blamed in the report for failure of the U. S. to obtain pension legislation it recommended last year. Its proposed legislation would have increased monthly pensions of Civil War veterans.

The report said because of the general business conditions, President Hoover suggested the legislation should wait.

"We assured him," the report said, "the Grand Army, of all organizations, would not embarrass the President of the United States."

Tomorrow the veterans will choose their new commander and other officers as they wind up business preparatory to mustering out.

Interpreting the Mode Culbertson on Bridge

By DARE

ONCE upon a time the "adapting" of a Paris gown to the American market, or need, or taste, was quite an industry. But gradually it has died—hard, we admit, and only this year its days of usefulness actually over.

"Because the French Haute Couture has made expensive and determined efforts to make clothing—adapting it to this country, studying its first hand the taste and needs based on the above of the American woman. And with surprising thoroughness have grasped it, and are now in the process of adapting it into their creations that is really astonishing. Without, of course, losing one whit of their French elegance and good taste."

The process of adapting a creation has always seemed to me to be nothing short of cruel. When one considers the matter from the angle of the creator—choosing fabrics, and inspiration through long hours of work and study to the completion of the garment that is at one and the same time practical and a work of art, only to have it changed by usually skillful but inartistic hands to meet a need for which it was not created, well, you see how it would seem cruel.

So I am rather glad that the same creator has studied his market and now creates with all of his former inspiration a gown that needs no changing by "different" hands.

It is with regret that I see the famous name of Tolleman disappear from the fashion world. For in this was one of the French couturiers that most definitely expressed what one believed a French Maison du Couture should express—elegance, permanent and subtle and slightly of the old school.

Now the house of Tolleman has changed hands, changed name, and changed established tradition. Probably the new and very up to date Mme. Helen Hubert will continue a very successful business—probably I will show you many of her designs. But I hope that I may be allowed this one sincere and regretful tribute to the passing of an old and famous name.

And Helen Hubert designed an evening ensemble of great charm, the dress of which I sketched today. It is a fashion which the full skirt and jade green velvet makes the top. The tulle is carefully cut and fashioned in incrustations that fit over the hips.

FOOD BY RADIO.
HOME cooking is possible through the radio, engineers have demonstrated. They have cooked a hot dog by means of radio beams and it is only a question of time before the American public will get its omelette by special permission of the copyright owners.

The day is near when cooking will be done through the average radio set, and you will be able to get your pork and beans over a national hook-up.

The great unseen audience will obtain a lamb fricassee as easily as it gets Rudy Valle, and grab off a New England boiled dinner with fewer motions than are required to get Seth Parker.

There will be the usual fire-side arguments whether to tune in on Kate Smith, a jazz orchestra, President Hoover or a western sandwich on rye.

Father will like WEAF's special 60 cent luncheon, mother will hold out for WJZ's dollar dinner with oysters, and the children will probably spend the evening arguing whether WOR or KDKA gives the best chocolate pudding with its program.

Time will, of course, bring international radio arrangements by which a Wiener schnitzel will be broadcast direct from Vienna, and a combination philharmonic concert, bowl of soup, and disarmament address, radioed from Rome, London or Paris.

It will soon be possible to get indignation from sitting too close to a microphone.

"What are we going to have for dinner?" Junior will ask as he comes in from play.

"You can have real outlets with Ed Wynne and French fried potatoes," mother will explain as she reads the radio program, "or roast duck with the Boswell sisters and green peas."

"How about some fried chicken and boiled onions with Tony Wons and strawberry ice cream?" Junior will chirp.

"You had that last night," mother will explain.

And just when indecision is at a height, father will come home from work and insist that he has his appetite all set for pigs knuckles and sauerkraut and Lowell Thomas.

The matter will be compromised by agreeing to let the children have a dinner, which gives them a choice of Morion Downey, raspberry ice, Olson & Johnson or deep dish apple pie.

Great days for home cooking are in the offing. What the public will want to know from Emily Post at once is the right fork to use on a six-bulb cabinet radio set and whether the finger bowls should be brought on before or after Amos 'n' Andy.

OR FOUR-IN-HAND.

ITALY has decided to assess its income tax in accordance with a taxpayer's scale of living. The more luxuriously he lives the more he will be taxed, regardless of his stated income. Tough days are ahead for those folks who ride gondolas through the Grand Canal three abreast.

IT HAS BEEN TRIED.
Good looking nurses are a help to patients, the American Hospital Association says. The difficulty is to get the internes and staff doctors to part with them for a few seconds.

Beautiful nurses have their points, admittedly, but experience proves that for service and attention you should insist on the middle-aged one with the mustache, the tortoise-shell glasses, the pug nose and the slight stoop.

A DILEMMA.
"Look!" complained the devastated week-end party guest, "he asks me who the fellow with the red eyebrows was, and I can't even remember who I am!"

Civilization's debt to Michael Faraday will be acknowledged in a series of experiments over WJZ at 9:15 o'clock tonight by Orville H. Caldwell, president of the New York Electrical Society.

When Faraday was demonstrating the feeble titter of a compass needle which followed his electromagnetic experiments, a member of Parliament visiting his laboratory asked him, "Well, what is it good for?"

"Some day," answered Faraday with a far-away smile, "perhaps you can tax it."

The appearance of Arthur Pryor on a new program tonight with Jay C. Flippin (WMAL, 7:30 o'clock) will coincide with the veteran bandmaster's sixtieth birthday, for which occasion he has been requested to feature his famous composition, "The Whistler and His Dog." Pryor, who many years ago was home soldier with Sousa's Band, has been conceded the late March King's throne.

Those Boswell Sisters will borrow a phrase, Norman Brokenshire's famous "Mike" greeting when they harmonize "How Do You Do" during the broadcast of "Music That Satisfies" over WMAL tonight at 8 o'clock.

MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS, will be John Erskine's topic this afternoon on the G. E. Circle (WRC, 4:45 o'clock).

Fying in with the appearance of the picture at the Radio, there will be an interview with Irene Dunn and

Winnie Winkle, The Breadwinner

See the Winkle Family in colors in The Sunday Post.

John Boles, stars in "Back Street" (WMAL, 7:15 o'clock tonight) Babylon Handicap (WMAL, 2:45 p. m.) Eastern States Dairy Exposition at Springfield (WRC, 12:31 p. m.) "The Universe and the Atom," Sir Arthur Eddington, British scientist (WRC, 8 p. m.).

Jack Pearl, alias "Baron Munchausen," and Ferde Grofe will be the Lucky Strike attractions tonight (WRC, 9 o'clock).

The Democratic plan to use the radio, William A. Thomson, director of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, told the New York State Publishers' convention, hinged in a large part on the intention to counteract "whispering campaign" to the effect that Groves is in bad health, the idea being that his voice, splendidly adapted to the radio, will correct that impression.

It happened at a New Jersey mobilization camp during the war, according to Frank Munce, tenor. A small boy leading a mule came near two soldiers. "Hey, son," cried one of the doughboys, "why are you holding your brother so tight?" "He won't join the army," answered the lad.

BUNNY COUGHLIN, of Funny-bones, drastically warns kind biographers not to describe his third-floor rear apartment as a "Manhattan penthouse." He says such mistakes have fired the imagination of his renting agent.

Civilization's debt to Michael Faraday will be acknowledged in a series of experiments over WJZ at 9:15 o'clock tonight by Orville H. Caldwell, president of the New York Electrical Society.

When Faraday was demonstrating the feeble titter of a compass needle which followed his electromagnetic experiments, a member of Parliament visiting his laboratory asked him, "Well, what is it good for?"

"Some day," answered Faraday with a far-away smile, "perhaps you can tax it."

The appearance of Arthur Pryor on a new program tonight with Jay C. Flippin (WMAL, 7:30 o'clock) will coincide with the veteran bandmaster's sixtieth birthday, for which occasion he has been requested to feature his famous composition, "The Whistler and His Dog." Pryor, who many years ago was home soldier with Sousa's Band, has been conceded the late March King's throne.

Those Boswell Sisters will borrow a phrase, Norman Brokenshire's famous "Mike" greeting when they harmonize "How Do You Do" during the broadcast of "Music That Satisfies" over WMAL tonight at 8 o'clock.

The other adults in the car gave their names as Edna Bryant, who said she lived at 1029 Park road northwest, and Sam Jeffers, of Glenn Dale, Md. At the hearings, held in Marlboro, Commissioner Parran decided that neither of these could be held responsible for the alleged contraband in the automobile.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

FEARFUL, no doubt, that the disparity between the two-hour running time of the picture and the six-hour period necessary for a complete contemplation of the stage play might impress itself disadvantageously upon the collective mind—if any—of the Washington theatrical fraternity, the Messrs. Harry Long, district manager for Loew, Inc.; Carter Barron, city manager; Eddy Gilmore, director of advertising and publicity; and Norman Pyle, M-G-M exploiter, contrived to make Tuesday midnight's preview of "Strange Interlude," opening tomorrow night as a road show attraction at the National, last as long as any occasion in which the first of the Eugene O'Neill marathon plays ever has been implicated.

The screening itself, to be sure, only occupied the attention of those present from 11:45 p. m. to 1:45 a. m., but that was merely—and literally—the curtain-raiser. Immediately the last scene of the picture had faded from the screen, the dulcet tones of the Barron, but by no means barren, voice of the host came booming through the loudspeakers urging the faithful members of the press and divers and sundry visiting firemen huddled out front to mount the rostrum and sit for a change behind the footlights, where, on the stage, was spread a feast of delicacies fit for a king and all the other face cards. In fact, there were no few queens among the guests and, of course, a Jack or two!

Master Willie Gleson—and this time please, Mr. compositor, let's not spell it Gleson—Jester of the week's vaudeville bill at Loew's Fox, acted as the party's clown throughout the early morning, with only the regular intermission to catch up on his sleep, and Edmund Lowe, appearing personally on the same program, rode in from the Shoreham with one of the milk men to become principal raconteur of an especially auspicious and delightful matutinal mingling of congenial spirits.

Having passed my peak as a night owl shortly after the Indian Wars, I retreated in good order one step ahead of the cash customers entering the theater for yesterday's first performance and have been wondering ever since why I didn't just take a brisk walk around the block and come directly to work instead of trying to put that guy Murphy, or Morpheus, or whatever his name is, first!

"Strange Interlude," in its climaxed form, it may be said without anticipating a later and more comprehensive review, represents one of the most skillful tasks of adaptation accomplished to date. The condensation of the five-hour drama into its two-hour screen running time, instead of vitiating the O'Neill story of Nina Leeds' peculiarly complex life, has served to clarify, accelerate and sharpen it.

It may not in truth be said, however, that the compression of the drama into its present compass has effected any diminution in the play's morbid abnormality of viewpoint and development. It is still strong theatrical meat, frank in its pathological implications and daring in its Freudian explorations of a woman's strange neurosis. It gains in a savage and ruthless quality of entertainment by the stripping away of redundancies that leaves O'Neill's major purposes thrown into bold relief. It is not a pretty subject, but it is a more vigorously direct and impressive one than the stage was able to offer, sensational as the Theater Guild's revolutionary innovation was in its day.

To thoughtful audiences, willing to recognize a tremendous forward step in the technique of motion picture preparation and production, this initial road show presentation of the celluloid "Strange Interlude" at the National should prove no less an object of intense and fascinating interest than the original which took three times as long to view.

When Edmund Lowe presented himself at the post-preview activities during the starry hours of Wednesday morning, he came fresh from the telephone booth and a long, long-distance confab with Sol Wurtzel, studio chief on the Fox lot on the West Coast. Although the matter is still too tentative and nebulous for definite announcement, there is a strong possibility that an extraordinary Fox enterprise will soon engage the activities of Victor McLaglen, Eddie Lowe and Dolores Del Rio. A dialogue revival of what? One guesses—and that should be plenty!

One learns with some surprise that Irene Bordoni, one of the luminaries scheduled to appear on the three-star vaudeville bill beginning tomorrow at the Fox, arrived in New York from a European vacation only last Monday. I trust the chic Parisienne will have got rid of her, er, ah, ahem, sea-legs by show time!

And speaking of the likes of vaudeville, I have it on good authority that those previous zanies, Olsen and Johnson, stars of the stage screen and radio, who also come to town tomorrow, will not be housed at St. Elizabeths, along with their supporting ensemble of 30 nut comedies, when their "Atrocities of 1932" headlines the bill at the Earle. So there will probably be complaints!

ALEXANDRIA WATER HEARING ON MONDAY

Rates and Pressure Will Be Discussed at First in Series of Parleys.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va., 323.

The water committee of the Alexandria City Council will hold its first public hearing in the council chamber at 7:30 p. m. Monday, and several persons have been requested to furnish information desired by the committee in its investigation of the city water supply. It is the purpose of this committee to hold frequent meetings to gather facts in regard to the water situation, and it is expected the survey will extend over several weeks.

The committee, which is composed of Councilman E. C. Davidson, chairman; Henry O'Bannon Cooper and Michael T. Dwyer, was appointed at the last meeting of the council to look into the matter of alleged insufficient pressure for fire protection, as well as rates charged the public by the Alexandria Water Co., and has the power to recommend to the council obtaining water service from other sources if necessary. Assurances have been given the city council by a representative of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that if it becomes necessary for the city to lay mains and obtain its water supply from other sources than the Alexandria Water Co., the city will be able to borrow the necessary money, provided the project is self-liquidating. Protests against the rates charged by the Alexandria Water Co. have been filed by its customers. The company recently obtained from the State Corporation Commission authorization for a 10 per cent increase in rates, and it is now seeking, through the State court of appeals, a further increase, said to approximate 33 per cent.

Beltville Man Freed On 'Kidnaping' Charge

Kidnaping and disorderly conduct charges against Oliver Jenkins, of Beltville, Md., were dismissed at a hearing in Hyattsville Police Court yesterday when the mother of the abducted child testified she approved of the "kidnaping."

Jenkins was charged with stealing his younger brother, Jesse, after a dispute between his mother and father, James Jenkins. After his mother said he took the child with her approval, State's Attorney Alan Bowie moved for the dismissal of the warrants against the defendant.

Schools Bar Children Under 6.

DINE AT OLNEY INN

OLNEY FARM-OLNEY, MD. 12 Miles Out of Washington

This Morning with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

I see by the papers that the Cubs, with characteristic generosity of pennant-winning ball players at this season of the year, have voted Mark Koenig an entire half-share of the world series spoils. It is no surprise.

When the time comes to divide the players' share of the world series receipts, the ball players who have a voice in the voting make a list of the players who are not entitled to a full share. The fewer full shares, of course, the larger the share of the regulars, and the devil take the substitutes.

Two Scenes in Nats' Locker Room

The Washington locker room was the scene of two notable world series debates in 1924 and 1925 when the Nats were pennant winners. The enemy that was aroused still marks the attitude of many of the players concerned. Time has not effaced much of the ill-feeling.

There was the case of Wade Loeffler, whom you may remember as the pinch hitter extraordinary in 1924 when he came up for the minor leaguer in the last month of the season and literally walloped the Nats into the pennant in the three-way finish with the Yankees and Athletics.

Club Aids Coaches And Trainer

At the same time a half share was voted to Trainer Mike Martin by the players and coaches Altrock and Schacht were given lump sums, comparatively small. Martin, it was, who kept the ailing Peckinpaugh strapped tightly in the waning weeks of the season when Peck played his heroic role.

Not until the officials of the Washington club intervened did the players reconsider Martin's allotment, and then only under pressure. It was the club's treasury that finally made up the difference for Martin, Altrock and Schacht.

Koenig Opportunist Of Cubs

Koenig has played 31 games for the Cubs, few compared to the regulars, but none on the team has been more of an opportunist for the Chicago club than the little infielder who was reclaimed from the Coast league. He joined the club when they were in the thick of the battle with the Pirates, on August 15, when they had a scant lead of two and a half games.

In the last month, Koenig, along with Cuyler, has been the big punch of the Cubs. He has batted .337 and filled the shortstop post sensationally. Single-handed, he pulled many a game out of the fire, and without Koenig there might not have been any world series "split" for the Cubs. Yet his share is a half share. 'Tis the way of pennant-winning ball players at this time of the year.

rd Shifts Maryland Line-up

Vincent and Wood at Ends as Washington Game Nears.

Fenlon Knocked Out in G.W. Drill; C.U. Work Is Light.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

THREE days before it opens its season against Washington College, at Byrd Stadium, all is gloomy at Maryland University.

Dissatisfied with the manner in which the Terps have been conducting themselves to date, and beset by several injuries, Coach Curtis Byrd yesterday discarded his decided-upon starting eleven for Saturday and gambled with new combinations which in turn failed to produce the desired results.

Dick Nelson, sophomore back with a mighty kicking leg, who was looked upon as a certain starter Saturday, found himself on the second squad yesterday, while Ed Vesey, and Stewart McGee, sophomores, ends of great promise, were supplanted by Rufus Vincent and Bill Wood.

Webb and Mitchell Injured.

Tom Webb, former Western High youth, who seemed to have the center berth clinched, was in civilian clothes yesterday, nursing a Charley-horse born in the Maryland-C. U. scrimmage Tuesday. John Mitchell, seasoned lineman, is out with a bad shoulder and not expected to be in shape by Saturday.

Nelson's place in the A team's back field yesterday was taken by Joe Grecco, 160-pound back from Newark, N. J. Frank Hines, who played a bit at end and in the back field last year, was Webb's berth.

Fenlon Is Knocked Out In Scrimmage of G. W.

Virtually on the eve of their battle with Washington and Lee, George Washington University's sparkplug and quarterback, Johnnie Fenlon, was kicked in the head in scrimmage yesterday and deposited into the land of unconsciousness for 15 minutes.

The injury cast a slight pall over the rough scrimmage session held on the Colonial's scull training field, but a note of optimism was sounded when Fenlon rallied strongly last night and hopes of his appearance in Saturday's game became visibly brighter than at the time of the injury.

Burrell Steele, sophomore tackle, who booted them high, wide and handsome at Camp Lehigh, proved he was just as good in the heat of battle yesterday as he was in the practice. The injury cast a slight pall over the rough scrimmage session held on the Colonial's scull training field, but a note of optimism was sounded when Fenlon rallied strongly last night and hopes of his appearance in Saturday's game became visibly brighter than at the time of the injury.

Coach Bergman Pleased With Catholic U. Work

Somewhat bruised from the rigors of scoring seven touchdowns against Maryland, Catholic University's grid squad staged a light workout yesterday, concentrating mainly on chipping off the rough edges of the passing and kicking formation of the team after the kick-off.

Work will be speeded up this afternoon, and will break for a full speed Saturday when the Cards meet St. John's of Annapolis, at Brookland Stadium, in a regulation practice game at 3:30 o'clock, to which there will be no admission fee.

Browns Kill Tribe's Third-Place Hopes

Cleveland, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Walter Stewart, Brown southpaw, tightened up after a bad start today and St. Louis came from behind to beat the Indians, 4 to 3. The defeat cost Cleveland its last mathematical chance for third place and closed the interclub series with the Tribe victors in 16 out of 22 contests.

Stewart yielded five hits in the first inning and three in the third, but kept the Indians hitless the rest of the game.

Carry National League's Hopes Into World Series

1932 NATIONAL LEAGUE Champions

The quartet pictured above, fresh from figuring in a sensational drive to the National League pennant, will carry the burden of the Cubs when the Yankees are met in the world series starting September 28. Grimm, player-manager, at first base; Cuyler and Stephenson, slugging outfielders, and Bush, veteran pitcher, have been outstanding in the Cubs' pennant campaign.

GRID 'SCOOP' PLANNED BY MATMEN

Savoldi, Hickman and Other Ex-Grid Stars at Park Tonight.

MORE than half of the flying tacks in captivity will be taken by the Washington Redskins tonight when the team's weekly scrimmage is held at Griffith Stadium. Turner will scoop the football season by three days by bringing to town a raft of rascals who earned their spurs on the gridiron and plan to sink them in each other tonight.

Joe Savoldi, firebrand of the Notre Dame team of 1930, is one of the featured rascals tonight, meeting Lou Plummer, who claims Notre Dame as his alma mammy.

GRIMM'S TROUNCE YANKS ON 3 HOMERS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Merritt "Sugar" Cain checked the bats of the New York Yankees, including Babe Ruth, today and the Athletics pounded out an 8-to-4 victory over the American League champions.

The A's walloped three timely home runs, including Jimmie Fox's fifty-fourth of the season and Al Simmons' thirty-fourth in their ten hits off Charley Grimm, who is figured by many as a probable starting pitcher for the first game of the world series.

Simmons' Homer Starts Rally

Simmons' circuit drive opened the scoring in the fourth inning. Fox's blow started a three-run rally in the seventh and a four-ply wallop by Eric McNair with two on base in the eighth finished off a rally that won the game in the eighth.

Ruth, returning to the Yankees' lineup after an absence of 15 games because of a threatened attack of appendicitis that sent him flying home from Detroit September 8, went out in his first three hits, but got a single on a bad bounce the fourth time and drove in the tying run. He was taken out for a pinch runner.

Pirates Beat Cubs To Clinch Second

Chicago, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh clinched second place in the National League race today by defeating the Championship Cubs, 9 to 6. A four-run rally in the eighth inning against a patched-up Cub lineup accomplished the victory.

Pat Malone started for the Champions but left with a lead at the end of four innings although he was batted for six hits and three runs. He was relieved by Leroy Hermann and Jackie May, the losing game going to Hermann. Swift started for the Pirates and was succeeded by Spencer, who yielded only three hits in four innings.

Hornsby Fails To Share in Cub Spoils

Is Ignored by Former Charges in Division of Series Money.

Koenig Is Voted Hgfl Share; Chicago Is Now Agog.

By PAUL MICKELSON.
CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Roger Hornsby was the "forgotten man" of the Cubs clubhouse today.

He was ignored completely by his former mates as they cast their ballots on the division of their world series money.

As manager, Charlie Grimm, who succeeded the "Rajah" as pilot August 2, called the players together. Every man connected with the team during the not pennant-winning campaign was mentioned except Hornsby. It was voted to divide the "spoils" among 23 players and four attaches of the team. Twenty players, including Coaches Charlie O'Leary and "Red" Corriden, will receive full shares.

Yanks On 3 Homers

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Merritt "Sugar" Cain checked the bats of the New York Yankees, including Babe Ruth, today and the Athletics pounded out an 8-to-4 victory over the American League champions.

The A's walloped three timely home runs, including Jimmie Fox's fifty-fourth of the season and Al Simmons' thirty-fourth in their ten hits off Charley Grimm, who is figured by many as a probable starting pitcher for the first game of the world series.

Simmons' Homer Starts Rally

Simmons' circuit drive opened the scoring in the fourth inning. Fox's blow started a three-run rally in the seventh and a four-ply wallop by Eric McNair with two on base in the eighth finished off a rally that won the game in the eighth.

Ruth, returning to the Yankees' lineup after an absence of 15 games because of a threatened attack of appendicitis that sent him flying home from Detroit September 8, went out in his first three hits, but got a single on a bad bounce the fourth time and drove in the tying run. He was taken out for a pinch runner.

Pirates Beat Cubs To Clinch Second

Chicago, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh clinched second place in the National League race today by defeating the Championship Cubs, 9 to 6. A four-run rally in the eighth inning against a patched-up Cub lineup accomplished the victory.

Pat Malone started for the Champions but left with a lead at the end of four innings although he was batted for six hits and three runs. He was relieved by Leroy Hermann and Jackie May, the losing game going to Hermann. Swift started for the Pirates and was succeeded by Spencer, who yielded only three hits in four innings.

Chattanooga Defeats Beaumont Club, 5 to 0

Beaumont, Tex., Sept. 21 (U.P.).—The Chattanooga baseball nine of the Southern Association evaded the annual Dixie series today by winning the second game here from the Beaumont Exporters, Texas League champions, 5 to 0, with a hectic seventh inning scoring spree.

Thus Beaumont, which won yesterday, and Chattanooga go on even terms to Chattanooga for the third game of the minor leagues classic Friday. There will be no game tomorrow.

Coffman Wins 1-0 Duel in Opener

Returns to Form as Nats Clinch Third Place Money.

Errors Figure in Two Victories; Second Game Won, 3-2.

Special to The Washington Post.
FENWAY PARK, Boston, Sept. 21. By twice defeating the Boston Red Sox here this afternoon, the Nationals not only retained a slim chance to beat out the runner-up Athletics but clinched third money for themselves. Their double-victory, 1-to-0 in the ten-inning opener and 3-to-2 in the nightcap, made it impossible for the losing Cleveland Indians to overtake them, while they also pulled up to within three games of the second-place Philadelphia Club.

What pleased Manager Walter Johnson almost as much as the two triumphs was the apparent return to form of young Dick Coffman, who pitched brilliant ball in the first game. He allowed only five hits in nine innings, walked but three and struck out five. Only one alien advanced as far as third and he was in command of the situation throughout. A pinch-hitter performed for him in the tenth and so Lloyd Brown finished out the string, who also did for Marberry in the second.

Faulty Sox Fielding Helps Nats.

Faulty fielding by the Beaneaters enabled the Nats to gain both triumphs. The winning run in the extra round of the first game was recorded when, with a double-play, which would have made the second and third outs, in sight, Olson pegged badly to first, giving Pinch-hitter Dave Harris life. Bludge, on third as a result of singles by him and Spencer, scored on the play.

A charged error to Pitcher Bob Weiland and another double play by the Sox here this afternoon, proved to be the winning run scored, gave the Nats their margin of victory in the second game. This happened in the ninth inning. Reynolds opened when, with a double-play, which would have made the second and third outs, in sight, Olson pegged badly to first, giving Pinch-hitter Dave Harris life. Bludge, on third as a result of singles by him and Spencer, scored on the play.

Nats Mold Markers One At a Time.

The Nats coined their other two runs one at a time—in the first and eighth. Rice singled to start the game, but was forced midway on Myer's intended sacrifice. The latter advanced on Manush's one-shot to right. The marker coined in the eighth resulted from Rice's three-base clout and Manush's long fly.

Sensational fielding saved Fred Marberry, Washington's starting pitcher. The Sox were continual threats, but they scored but twice. They knotted the string the first time in the sixth as a result of singles by Alexander and Stumpf and a useful out, and then tied things up at 2-all. The Sox then tied Alexander's triple and Stumpf's single.

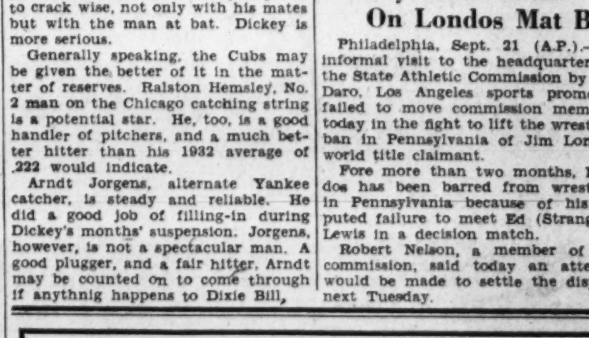

Pennsylvania Firm On London Mat Ban

Philadelphia, Sept. 21 (A.P.).—An informal visit to the headquarters of the State Athletic Commission by Lou Daro, Los Angeles sports promoter, failed to move commission members today in the light to lift the wrestling ban in Pennsylvania of Jim London, world title claimant.

More than two months, London has been barred from wrestling in Pennsylvania because of his reputed failure to meet Ed (Strangler) Lewis in a decision match.

Robert Nelson, a member of the commission, said today an attempt would be made to settle the dispute next Tuesday.

Tred Avon, Favorite, Is Third in Small 5-Horse Field.

Hanford's Masterly Ride Responsible for Victory.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent.)

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 21.—Jockey Buddy Hanford's whip pounding on the flank of a game horse, Helianthus, brought the Brookmans Handicap, feature of the day here, the largest gathering of the three days of the meeting.

True there was a little more to the race than the rousing finish riding the popular Hanford but the fact remains that it was the deciding factor. Pari-Mutuel came up to be beaten three parts of four by the other half length away.

Helianthus broke to follow the swift pace set by Rehoboth with Tred Avon laying the lead on the back-winner gained the lead on the back-stretch as Rehoboth faded and with the drive of the Labor representative.

Stocks Advance 7.1 Points; Highest Jump in Months

Bullish Enthusiasm Is Led by Steel in Sale of 510 Shares.

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.)—Bullish enthusiasm ran high in today's financial markets. Stocks put on their best demonstration in nearly a year, making an average gain of 7.1 points which considerably exceeded the best they had been able to do during the summer rally when the idea that business might be scheduled for some improvement was beginning to take hold.

On the stock exchange, many so-called pivotal issues returned net advances of 4 to 8 points. Bulls appeared to have been fired not only by the list's ability to emerge from its lethargy on the upside, but by some midweek business statistics which on the whole created a favorable impression.

The more spectacular advances were gains of around 8 points for U. S. Steel common and American Telephone & Telegraph. American Steel and Wire advanced 10 points, to 34.00 cents a share, New York City a similar reduction was made yesterday.

Lead Prices Reduced. The American Smelting and Refining Co. today cut its lead price 10 points, to 3.40 cents a pound, New York City a similar reduction was made yesterday.

CURB RALLY PUSHES ALL SHARES UPWARD

Gains of 1 to 8 Points Are Recorded in Following Other Markets.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

Wednesday, Tuesday, September 21, 1932. Number of advances, 620. Number of declines, 48. Stocks unchanged, 43. Total issues traded, 707.

Stocks.

Bullish enthusiasm led by steel common and American Telephone & Telegraph. The steel's turnover was 4,346,510 shares.

Bonds.

Nine-tenths of a point gain revived bonds in heavier trading. Rails, utilities and Federal led the upturn in sales of $14,184,000.

Curb.

The curb market awoke and climbed 1 to 8 points. All departments shared in the strong rally.

Wheat.

Buoyant dealing sent wheat nearly 3 cents higher. The rally in securities influenced the rise in grain. Corn and oats were up. September wheat sold at 52 1/2 to 53 1/2.

Cotton.

An advance of approximately 83 per cent boosted cotton prices 55 to 60 points in the general market. December closed at 7.48. Bombay bought in Liverpool.

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.)—The curb market discarded its sleepy mood today and staged a revival that swept prices upward in all departments.

The rebound followed strength in wheat and cotton, an increase in power and light output for the week ended September 17 and scattered reports of improved rail traffic and general business.

The leader of the forward movement was Electric Bond & Share, with a gain of 8 points. At the same time Aluminum Co. turned in the most spectacular performance with a net advance of 18 1/2 points, jumping to 114.

The utilities as a whole were staid in the advance. Among the outstanding specialty gainers was Safety Car Heating, which jumped 12 1/2 points to 32 1/2 on relatively small volume of transactions.

Deere & Co. advanced 3 1/2, American Cyanamid "B" 1, Crocker-Wheeler 1 1/2, Stutz Motors 1 1/2, Newmont Mining 4 1/2, and Gulf Oil 3. Outright of Gulf, the oils were rather quiet.

Singer Manufacturing reacted on the 1931 earnings report issued on Tuesday. The stock dropped 8 points on a few sales.

Spot Sugar More Active.

New York, Sept. 21 (A.P.)—A better spot inquiry and more reassuring activity in Cuba would be held to June were responsible for increased activity and firmness in sugar futures today.

1932 Top Price for Cattle in Heavier Trading

Established at Kansas City in Heavier Trading. Nine-Tenths of Point Gain Added in Sales of $14,184,000.
